4 hijackers die in raid on jetliner

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — West German commandos attacked behind the blinding flash of special grenades and swarmed aboard a hijacked Lufthansa airliner to kill four terrorists and free unharmed 86 hostages in a seven-minute raid reminiscent of Entebbe, the West German government announced Tuesday.

The spectacular raid on the jet parked on the runway at Mogadishu, Somalia, in northeast Africa, came about 90 minutes before a deadline set by the hijackers for the killing of the hostages.

It ended a five-day ordeal that covered about 7,000 miles and took the plane to six countries.

Among those rescued were 11 West German beauty queens and an American woman, Mrs. Christine Santiago, 44, of Santee, Calif., and her 5-year-old son.

AUTHORITIES SAID the hostages would return to Frankfurt International Airport in West Germany at 2 p.m. (6 a.m. Chicago time), today.

Two of the hijackers were members of a West German terrorist gang and two of the members of an extremist wing of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

They were shot dead before they could carry out their threat to blow up the plane and one raider was wounded, the government said.

Using special grenades creating a blinding flash of deafening noise, 28 men of Unit 9 of the Federal Border Troops blew open the Boeing 737's doors about 2 a.m. (Chicago time 6 p.m. Monday).

A swift shootout ensued in which the hijackers were shot dead and within seven minutes all the hostages had left the plane.

A JUBILANT Klaus Boelling, a government spokesman said "the Mogadishu hostages are free."

An earlier report that a stewardess had also been wounded was erroneous. The only person wounded was the one raider.

Boelling said that the news of the rescue was first relayed to West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt from Mogadishu by State Minister Hans-Juergen Wischnewski who said simply "the work is done."

In all, 60 men of a crack Unit 9 flew aboard a Lufthansa Boeing 707 from the Greek Island of Crete to Mogadishu Monday, landing after dark.

The raid was directed by Gerd Boeden, head of the anti-terrorist squad of the German Federal Police, and Ulrich Wegener, head of the raiding troops. Spokesmen said they had been secretly following the hijacked aircraft on its odyssey.

THEY WERE ON board the special executive jet used by Wischnewski, an Arab specialist who negotiated with the hijackers at Mogadishu and earlier at Dubai.

Lufthansa spokesman Frank Cesarz said the raid had been planned to the last detail. "The men of the Frontier Protection Troops had trained for a long time on an aircraft of the same type," he said.

The border guards are the senior military arm of West Germany. They were the first armed unit formed after World War II. Their prime mission is to guard West Germany's border and they also provide elite troops that guard the chancellor, president and other government officials.

THE LIGHTNING raid resembled the Israeli raid at Entebbe airport in Uganda July 4, 1976, when Israeli commandos flew secretly into the airport and rescued 102 hijacked hostages in a shootout with Arab and West German terrorists.

The hijackers seized the Boeing 737 at midday Thursday over the French Riviera as it was flying from Majorca to Frankfurt. They later forced the plane to fly to Rome, Cyprus, Bahrain, Dubai, Aden and finally Somalia.

They demanded the release of 13 terrorist prisoners held in German and Turkish jails and a $15.5 million ransom. Both Germany and Turkey stood firm as one deadline after an-

A CONFERENCE. Accused prostitute Brenda Smith, 26, of Chicago, talks with Jack Michaels, 34, of Schiller Park, who is accused of keeping a house of prostitution at Affairs, a private men's club, 2407 Oakton St., Elk Grove Township. The pair is expected to stand trial on the charges Dec. 19 in the Niles Branch of Cook County Circuit Court. Owners of Affairs also are fighting their landlords who are trying to have the businessmen evicted.

TUESDAY IN THE HERALD

"Fire-for-hire"

Policemen, firemen, lawyers and businessmen from Boston were rousted from bed, booked and fingerprinted as state police began rounding up 33 persons allegedly involved in the largest urban fire-for-hire scheme in the United States. — Page 3.

Crosby burial today

Bing Crosby came back to the United States. The body of the famed entertainer, who died suddenly in Spain on Friday, was flown back on a regular flight from Madrid. A "simple" Catholic funeral Mass for the entertainer will be said today in Los Angeles. — Page 3.

Theater's "Best"

Chicago's theater community met en masse at the Drury Lane Theatre in McCormick Place to witness the awarding of the ninth annual Joseph Jefferson Awards, the local equivalent of Broadway's "Tony" awards. — Sect. 3, Page 7.

Snow packs wallop

A fall snowstorm, packing a midwinter-like wallop, blasted the eastern mountains from Upstate New York to Tennessee and North Carolina. Up to a foot of snow fell in Pennsylvania turning the autumn foliage from red to white. — Sect. 3, Page 8.

Cloudy and cooler

Partly cloudy skies with possible showers will accompany cooler temperatures today. Highs will be near 60, with lows tonight in the mid-30s. Tomorrow will be mostly sunny with highs around 60.

Underpass plan gets village OK despite protests

Despite pleas for a delay by the chamber of commerce, plans for construction of an underpass on Arlington Heights Road at the Chicago and North Western Ry. tracks were approved Monday night by the village board.

Trustees voted 7-1 to proceed with final engineering plans despite a petition submitted by chamber officials and signed by 135 businessmen. The petition asks for a delay until the effects of the underpass on the central business district are studied further and alternatives are prepared.

The board's action climaxes about 20 years of discussion about an underpass at that site to alleviate traffic congestion.

VILLAGE TRUSTEE Madeline Schroeder voted against the proposal and Trustee August Bettman abstained.

The proposed underpass will cost about $8.5 million, engineering consultants said. The village expects to get 70 per cent funding for the project from the federal government with the state and village splitting the remainder.

Local property taxes will not be affected because the village's share will be paid with motor fuel tax funds, Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said.

The underpass plan approved Monday calls for Arlington Heights Road to run under the railway tracks, as well as the depression of Northwest Highway to the same level as Arlington Heights Road. The intersection will have left and right turn lanes and improved traffic signals.

THE PLANS HAVE been opposed by most of the downtown merchants, including four financial institutions, and the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce. Their objections stemmed mostly from the plans to prohibit the access of Evergreen Avenue to Northwest Highway and the access of Davis Street to Arlington Heights Road.

Two weeks ago their request that plans be delayed until more economic impact and traffic studies could be conducted were rejected by village officials.

However, in response to some of the objections from the business community, engineers last week revised the underpass plans to allow access to and from Arlington Heights Road on Davis Stree. That revision, which will cost an additional $320,000, also was approved Monday.

The revised plan also allows for the possibility of building a two-level parking garage for 84 cars on the north side of Davis Street, immediately west of Arlington Heights Road, with a pedestrian walkway over Davis

Prostitution fronts have long history

by DANN GIRE
and PAT DOYLE

Affairs and the Club Renaissance, recent targets of the Cook County Sheriff's Police vice squad, are only two in a long line of alleged prostitution fronts that have opened quietly and quickly closed in rapid succession throughout Cook County.

It started two years ago when massage parlors sprang up in southwest suburban Willow Springs and west suburban Leyden Township. One burned, and the other was closed after several arrests were made there by the Cook County vice squad.

Since then the operators of these clubs have taken different marketing approaches, but the underlying message remains the same — sex for sale.

CLUB RENAISSANCE, 2307 Rand Rd., Palatine Township, and Affairs, 2407 Oakton St., Elk Grove Township, both tell patrons they are private men's clubs where, for a fee, a customer will be provided with a woman and a room to do "whatever you and she decide to do."

Prostitution arrests have been made at both clubs within recent weeks. More are expected to follow just as more fronts for prostitution are expected to open in the suburbs.

It's a cycle motivated by money — big money — for the profiteers who benefit from the world's oldest profession.

Sgt. Clarke Buckendahl of the sheriff's police vice unit, said greed keeps the businesses open. "These places make more money than most people imagine. For these people, if they can just stay open a short period of time, they can manage to recoup their expenses and reap a sizable profit."

Buckendahl estimated that the door fees and tips from a prostitution front come to about $1,000 daily.

MOST OWNERS open these businesses in hopes of avoiding the vice squad long enough to realize a handsome profit, he said.

The most "generous" customer in the county's history stopped in last year at the Dolphin Motor Hotel, Golf Road and Milwaukee Avenue, Maine Township at 1 a.m. and stayed until 2 a.m. His bill totaled $9,300, Buckendahl said.

"That's where these places get you. They run your credit card up and the customer doesn't really think about what he's doing. At least not until he gets his bill the next month," Buckendahl said.

Police say some of the other clubs in the area and their gimmicks include:

- Smokers Health Club, Leyden Township. In this operation customers are "counseled" by nude women on the evils of smoking. Two employes have been arrested there in recent months for prostitution.
- Fantasy Travel Club, Leyden Township. Now closed, the club permitted "members" to tell a nude woman about the trip of their dreams.
- Beaver Palace, Summit. In this one, a nude woman would demonstrate how to care for fur in a back room. Village officials moved to close the place for violating building codes. The business closed shortly thereafter.

There have been others, County Photo I in Leyden Township and County Photo II, Elk Grove Township, where patrons were given the opportunity to photograph naked women. Both are closed.

Pleasure Island and Harem Leisure Products, both in Elk Grove Township, operated under the guise of demonstrating water beds and sauna equipment. Prostitution arrests were made, followed by eviction notices, and both places closed.

SST rule stiffens local opposition

by LYNN ASINOF

A U.S. Supreme Court action Monday that cleared the way for the Concorde supersonic jetliner to start test flights into New York has strengthened Chicago area officials resolve to keep the SST out of O'Hare Airport.

"We don't want it here and we will do everything we can do legally to keep it out," said J. P. (Pat) Dunne, commissioner of the City of Chicago's Dept. of Aviation.

The Supreme Court refused to review a lower court ruling that lifted the Port of Authority of New York and New Jersey's ban on SST test flights into Kennedy International Airport.

U.S. REP. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, said the court ruling upheld the lower court's contention that the Port Authority used improper procedures to establish the ban on the jet, which is capable of flying 1,350 miles per hour.

The congressman said he does not want Chicago to be in the same position and has called for the city to ban the controversial jet "by a procedure that will pass muster."

The procedure would include public hearings that the lower court said were lacking in establishing New York's ban.

Mikva said he is gathering information on the New York case, which will be given to Chicago Mayor Michael Bilandic.

THE CONGRESSMAN said he does not believe such a ban will require a period of test flights such as those soon to begin in New York. "We already know there is more noise here than any of the other airports involved," he said.

O'Hare is on the U.S. Dept. of Transportation's list of airports where the Concorde can land if approved by local officials.

Neither Brittish Airways nor Air France, the two airlines operating the Concorde, have expressed interest in landing at O'Hare. Both provide daily service to Europe from O'Hare on 747s.

Dunne said he does not expect either airline to ask to bring the Concorde to Chicago because it currently is illegal to fly supersonically over land. As such, he said it would be uneconomical.

THE COMMISSIONER said he believes the New York case is based on "geopolitics," which he said do not stretch as far west as Chicago.

Both Air France and British Airways said they will begin nonpassenger proving flights to Kennedy Wednesday. Full commercial service is to start Nov. 22.

New York authorities have been fighting the Concorde's landing for 19 months. The Port Authority most recently asked that test flights to Kennedy be banned until it had time to develop uniform noise standards.

A lower court had lifted that ban, saying it was unfair and discriminatory because the noise standards are not properly substantiated. Justice Thurgood Marshall reimposed the ban Oct. 7 after the Port Authority asked the Supreme Court to review the lower court ruling.

IN THE NORTHWEST suburbs, the sponsor of a letter-writing campaign against Concorde use of O'Hare Airport said the Supreme Court's ruling ignores the wishes of the people.

"Nobody cares about the people," said Patricia Galla, 2720 Scott St., Des Plaines. Mrs. Galla, legislative chairman of Orchard Place PTA, has amassed 2,000 supporters in her mail campaign to President Carter and four other high-level federal officials.

"The government is supposed to represent the people, and the people are supposed to have a voice in the government," Mrs. Galla said. "The people of New York — this is being pushed on them. They don't have a voice in this decision."

Truck speed limit increase OKd

An Illinois House subcommittee Monday approved a bill that would increase the speed limit for heavy trucks on two-lane state roads despite testimony it is "an anti-safety bill." The measure (H1969) was sent to the full Motor Vehicles Committee on a 2-1 vote. The measure would permit trucks with gross weight of more than 8,000 pounds to travel up to 55 miles per hour on two-lane roads, the same limit imposed on cars. They currently are limited to 50 m.p.h. on such highways.

33 arrested in Boston arson scheme

BOSTON (UPI) — Policemen, firemen, lawyers and businessmen were rousted from bed, booked and fingerprinted Monday as state police began rounding up 33 persons allegedly involved in the largest urban fire-for-hire scheme in the United States.

"There have been three deaths linked to this investigation," said Stephen Delinsky, an assistant state attorney general. "This is not white-collar crime."

Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti said the arson arrests follow a lengthy investigation by a special unit of his office into 35 Boston area fires, which rang up property damages of more than $6 million.

BELLOTTI CALLED IT "the largest arson ring ever uncovered in the United States" and said the case "disclosed corruption within the state fire marshal's office attached to the Massachusetts State Police, in the Boston Arson Squad, and in the Chelsea Fire Dept.

Among those arrested were Leo Weisentaner, retired captain of the Boston Fire Dept. Arson Squad; John Fothergill, a retired captain of the Chelsea Fire Dept., and James DeFuria of Revere, Mass., a retired state police trooper assigned to the state fire marshal's office. Others arrested included attorneys, real estate dealers and businessmen.

CHARGES AGAINST them range from murder to arson and include burning to defraud, submitting fraudulent insurance claims, conspiracy and bribery.

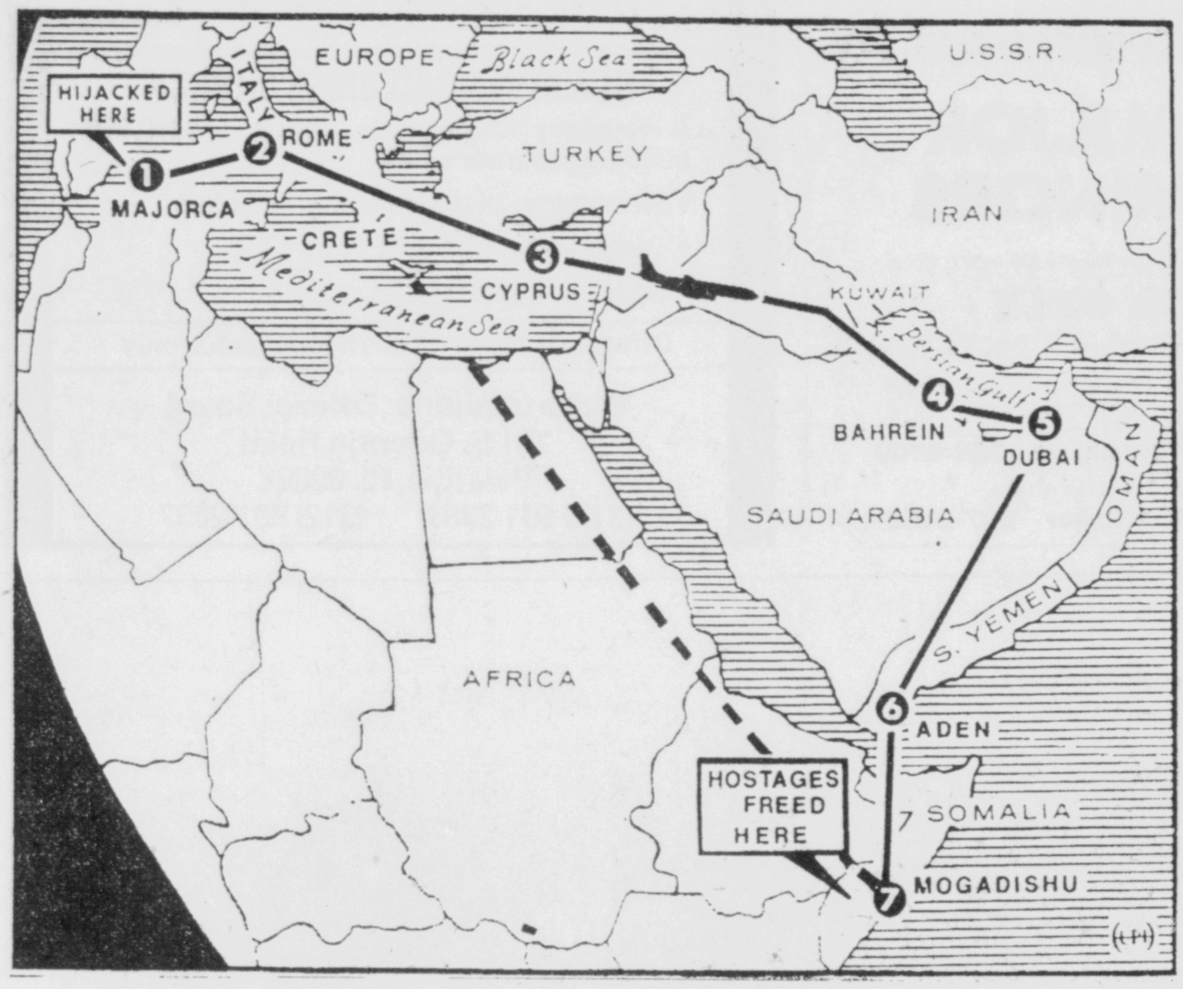
At least 21 persons had been taken into custody by midday Monday. The rest, indicted by a Suffolk County grand jury last week, were expected to surrender by the end of the day.

At least 18 of the suspects pleaded innocent during arraignment in Suffolk Superior Court before Judge Kent Smith. Seventeen were released on personal recognizance and their cases were continued until early November.

NICHOLAS SHAHEEN, a Dedham real estate executive, was charged with two counts of second-degree murder in connection with two fires in Boston's Back Bay area. He was ordered held on $25,000 bail.

Many of those brought in were neatly dressed in three-piece suits as they were booked and fingerprinted. Others looked as if they had just been rousted from bed during the pre-dawn raids on their homes.

"It would be an understatement to say arson has reached epidemic stages not only in metropolitan Boston but in other urban areas in the commonwealth and throughout the country," Bellotti said. "This is a major first step but there is much more that has to be done."



NEWSMAP POINTS out the route taken by the hijacked plane (solid line) and the route believed taken by the elite West German troops (dotted line) to stage the raid freeing the skyjacked hostages.

Hostages OK, 4 terrorists die in raid on jet

other set by the hijackers came and went.

JUBILATION IN Germany was dampened by the death of Juergen Schumann, the 37-year-old captain of the plane who was shot to death Monday. The hijackers unceremoniously dumped his body from the aircraft while the hostages watched in horror.

There was still no word on the fate of industrialist Hanns-Martin Schleyer, 62, kidnaped by West German terrorists on Sept. 5. An ultimatum on his life expired Sunday. His kidnapers had tied his fate to the demands of the four hijackers.

Schmidt and his government made it clear they believed that if released the terrorists would soon be back to continue their wave of killings, bombings and kidnapings.

THE LAST TIME German troops crossed their borders on an airborne rescue mission was in 1943 when Nazi SS commandos led by Otto Skorzeny landed by glider atop an Italian mountain and rescued imprisoned Italian Fascist dictator Benito Mussolini.

Mussolini was bundled aboard a small German plane and was flown off the small rocky mountain to Rome and lived for another 20 months.

The rescue, called Operation Oak, was ordered personally by Adolf Hitler.

At one time during the tense negotiations Monday 80-year-old Pope Paul VI said he would offer himself as a hostage if he thought that would persuade the hijackers to free the "many innocents" aboard the plane.

ULRICH WEGENER headed the unit nine raiders of the West German Federal Border Police that attacked the skyjack terrorists Monday, rescuing all the captives and killing the hijackers.

More signs of child abuse than just bumps, bruises

by DIANE GRANAT

The signs of child abuse and neglect are more than skin-deep.

Look at the child who begs for food in the school lunchroom. Or the youngster who refuses to remove his clothes to shower after gym class. Listen to the child who is evasive and guarded around adults.

There may be no visible cuts, bruises and fractures on these children, but their behavior could be a good indication that they are one of at least 60,000 abused children in this country.

SOME OF THE clues to child abuse and neglect were given Monday to about 200 educators attending a training workshop at Barrington High School, Barrington.

The workshop is one of 10 being sponsored throughout the state this fall by the Illinois Office of Education to help educators recognize and report cases of child abuse.

A 1975 Illinois law requires any medical worker, teacher, school administrator, social worker, police officer or any other person suspecting a case of child abuse to make an immediate report to the Dept. of Children and Family Services.

Vaughn Morrison, a consultant with the IOE, said there is no criminal penalty for failing to report a case of abuse. But there is the possibility of a civil suit against a person who withholds information about a suspected case, he said.

PARTICIPANTS IN Monday's conference said evidence of child abuse or neglect is not always readily available.

Occasionally a youngster will volunteer the information. "I had one kid come in and say he had been beaten the night before," said Jack Secrest, a counselor at Rolling Meadows High School, Rolling Meadows. "I took him to the nurse and found he had welts on his back and on his neck."

But often children try to hide the truth about their cuts and bruises, concocting excuses like "I fell out of a tree," said Jim Lapetina, another counselor at Rolling Meadows.

"Children tend to be fearful, defensive and unwilling to admit their parents do it," said pediatrician Paul Kachoris. "They have a great sense of loyalty."

ONE OF THE most difficult things to get children to admit is that they have been victims of sexual abuse by their parents, Kachoris said.

And this problem, said Steve Truskoski, a social worker in Elgin Area Unit Dist. 46, is on the rise. "Sexual abuse is becoming more and more of a problem in the junior high schools. But it's really well-hidden," he said.

One complaint raised by educators attending Monday's meeting was that DCFS is slow to respond to reports of suspected abuse.

"The suburbs are usually not looked upon as violent," said Phil Seroczynski, a social worker at Prospect High School, Mount Prospect. "As a result, most people find it hard to imagine that child abuse exists there. This makes it difficult to be placed on the priority list."

Child abusers may have been abused themselves

The first three cases of child abuse which Prospect High School social worker Phil Seroczynski handled in his former job in Gary, Ind., were committed by a nurse, a minister's wife and a PTA president.

"You don't have to be poor, live in the slums or be a blue collar worker," said Seroczynski.

Who is the typical child abuser? Based on studies of the 60,000 abuse cases reported annually in the United States, the Illinois Office of Education says the following portrait of a child abuser emerges:

- More than 90 per cent of the abusers are married, not divorced or single.
- Only 8 per cent of abusers are alcoholics, while 14 per cent of the American adult population are alcoholics.
- Usually abusers pick on only one child. The child is wanted, not born out of wedlock. In 5 per cent of the cases, abusers hurt male children. And half of the cases involve a child under 2-years-old.
- In 52 per cent of the cases, men are involved. Women, however, murder babies five times as often as men.
- Many abusers were abused themselves as children. Also, they hurt children who resemble themselves physically. Many doctors hypothesize that child abuse is a symptom of self-hate, the IOE says, and when a child fails, a parent reacts to his own sense of failure.
- One-quarter of the abusers abuse a child with their own name. In the general population, however, only 4 per cent of the chilren have the same name as their mother or father.
- Most child abusers are loners, who have few friends and receive little support from their spouses.

Zeroing in on the last trait to help potential abusers, Parental Stress Services in the north suburbs offers free help to troubled parents.

A 24-hour hotline (463-0390) connects frustrated parents with trained volunteers who will help them handle stress situations. Parents Anonymous groups, including one in Arlington Heights, also meet weekly to help parents find solutions to their common problems.

Bing's body flown to U.S.; services to be held today

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bing Crosby came back to the United States Monday.

The body of the famed entertainer, who died suddenly in Spain on Friday, was flown back to America on a regular Trans World Airlines flight from Madrid, accompanied by his 19-year-old son, Harry Crosby, one of his seven children.

The body, in a dark wooden coffin with a bronze crucifix on the lid and draped by a pale blue cloth, arrived at Kennedy Airport at 4:25 p.m. EDT aboard TWA flight 903 and was immediately transferred to TWA's flight 11 for Los Angeles.

A "SIMPLE" Catholic funeral mass for the 73-year-old crooner is scheduled today at St. Paul the Apostle Church in Los Angeles. Only Crosby's immediate family and a few close friends are to attend.

Kathryn Crosby, Bing's widow, has explained that Crosby's own wish for a "family" service would be observed.

Harry Crosby had a 2½ hour wait at Kennedy Airport between flights, but declined to speak to newsmen. In Madrid, where his father died of a heart attack just after finishing a round of golf, Harry said that Bing died "the way he would have wanted" — on a golf course.

Spanish golf champion Valentine Barrios, who played with Crosby in the match during which he was stricken, said the singer showed no signs of fatigue and was "happy and singing" before he suddenly fell to the ground.

Nadia becomes honorary citizen

- Mayor Michael A. Bilandic Monday made Romanian gymnast Nadia Comaneci an honorary citizen of Chicago and gave her and her teammates dolls. Bilandic lauded Miss Comaneci and her teammates for capturing "the hearts and minds of the entire world" with their performance at the 1976 Olympics. Miss Comaneci stood silent throughout the ceremony. When it was over, she uttered a one syllable reply which her interpreter said meant "she likes it."
- Former First Lady Betty Ford says her husband may have lost the election to President Carter because "many people who definitely were for Jerry could not bring themselves to vote for him because he pardoned (Richard M.) Nixon. I don't think they realize what a sick man Nixon was . .

Jerry was a Republican and he was associated with Nixon — and anyone associated with Nixon was automatically a 'bad guy.' " Writing in the November McCall's, Betty says despite it all "Jerry doesn't lie awake nights thinking about it." Commenting on President Carter, she says "he sounds like a very good evangelist, but I don't think that's his business."

- Benjamin Fortes, a 59-year-old accountant who lived a record 3½-days with the aid of a chimpanzee heart transplanted by famed surgeon Dr. Christiaan Barnard died Monday. The patient was the third person to receive a heart transplant from an animal. Earlier efforts also ended in failure.

Dry fire force tells village it's all wet

by JOHN LAMPINEN

The Carpentersville Fire Dept. was going to begin winterizing its equipment Monday.

Instead, firefighters spent most of the day on paperwork, "preplanning" various village buildings in case of fire.

They couldn't winterize their vehicles. They couldn't wash them. They couldn't even go to the bathroom. They had no water.

The village turned it off.

FIRE CHIEF Richard Paul immediately branded the action "irresponsible" and said the dispute that led to it should have been handled in a "more mature manner."

"It seriously endangers the public safety," Paul said. "This is somewhat of an impossible position."

Without the water, he said, the fire department will not be able to refill the tanks in its fire trucks. The water in those tanks is used while a hydrant is being opened when firefighters respond to a blaze, he said.

Paul also said the department is unable to sterilize its equipment after use, which could cause "serious" problems in the treatment of accident victims.

"We can't exist like this for more than 24 hours," he said.

Village Mgr. George Shaw, however, said he "seriously doubts" the water turnoff could cause any danger.

"THERE'S WATER in all the fire hydrants," he said.

The action was the latest episode in a growing dispute between the village and the Carpentersville and Countryside Fire Protection District over water meters.

The village informed the district in July that as part of Carpentersville's efforts to conserve water, the district had 90 days to install meters at each of its two stations.

Fire officials have refused, however, saying their $350,000 budget may end up in the red next year even without spending the $2,000 to $5,000 needed to install the meters.

The deadline came last Friday, but Shaw said the village decided against turning off the water then because the fire district was conducting an election Saturday.

AT ABOUT 7:30 a.m. Monday, the water was turned off while firefighters were responding to a rescue call.

Paul said village officials gave no notice before turning off the water.

"We didn't really expect it so suddenly," he said.

Firefighters borrowed water from the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall next to the fire station to clean emergency vehicles after calls Monday and also used the VFW hall for washroom facilities, Paul said.

Meanwhile, Shaw said the fire district has known about the requirement for water meters for three months and that the district is responsible for its situation by its own inaction.

WATER, SHAW SAID, will be restored to the fire station "as soon as the water meters are installed."

Paul, however, has other ideas. He said the district plans to borrow a key to turn its water supply back on this morning. Monday, he wrote Shaw a letter notifying him of the fire district's intention.

'When they say water conservation, they mean it.'

Scott's ex-wife sues for support

The former wife of Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott Monday filed a petition in Cook County Circuit Court requesting Scott be held in contempt of court for failing to pay $1,274 in child support payments. Dorothy J. Scott Humphrey said Scott owes $800 in child support and $474 in other court-ordered expenses. Ward P. Fisher, Mrs. Humphrey's attorney, charged Scott did not pay $150 in additional child support for September and $650 in October. Fisher said Divorce Court Judge Robert L. Hunter ordered the increase to $650 a month from $500 a month in child support for Scott's two children. The petition is scheduled to be heard Wednesday. Assistant Attorney General Herbert L. Caplan denied Scott is delinguent in making the child support payments. Caplan said Scott has paid "every penny of the required payments" and charged Mrs. Humphrey's attorney with distributing copies of the petition to members of the news media before consulting Scott's attorneys.

Strict asbestos ordinance proposed

The Cook County Department of Environmental Control has prepared an ordinance to control the use of asbestos that could cost suburban manufacturers thousands of dollars for new pollution control equipment, officials said Monday. If passed by the county board, the ordinance would establish pollution guidelines for the amount of abestos particles that could be released into the air, Philip Mole, Director of the County Environmental Control Department, said his department prepared the ordinance at the request of federal and state environmental agencies.

The ordinance would affect all suburban areas of the county, but not the city of Chicago, which has its own environmental authority. If passed, it would require some 40 suburban firms using asbestos to install special pollution-control equipment at a cost of up to $500,000.

Illinois briefs

'State must pay suspect firms'

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled Monday the Dept. of Public Aid has no right to end Medical payments to doctors, laboratories or other vendors suspected of fraud or other program abuses. Department officials called the ruling a "bombshell" and director Arthur Quern said he and Gov. James R. Thompson hope legislation to give the director such power can be quickly passed when the legislature returns next week. The ruling, handed down in the case of Bio-Medical Laboratories Inc. of Chicago, apparently means the state must continue payments to Medicaid participants as long as they meet bookkeeping requirements, no matter how great the department's suspicion of wrongdoing.

Quern said he can suspend or end Medicaid participation on technical bookkeeping grounds but said that method is not nearly as effective as holding the threat of suspension or termination over vendors heads when they are caught cheating the welfare system.

Mugalian tells candidacy for 4th term in House

Rep. Richard A. Mugalian (D-Palatine) Monday announced he will seek a fourth term in the Illinois House of Representatives.

Mugalian, an independent Democrat, will make his bid for another two-year term in the 2nd District in the March 21, 1978 primary and the November general election.

Mugalian, and Representatives John Friedland, (R-South Elgin) and Roger C. Stanley (R-Streamwood) represent the district, which includes parts of Cook, DuPage, Kane and Lake counties, and the communities of Bartlett, Hanover Park, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Rolling Meadows, Streamwood and Palatine, among others.

Richard Mugalian

MUGALIAN SAID he expects the incumbent Republicans also will announce their candidacy, and that the district again will send two Republicans and one Democrat to the House.

Consequently, the race to watch will be between Mugalian and another Democrat in the primary.

Issues to be decided during the next session of the General Assembly, Mugalian said, likely will include comprehensive tax reform, school finance, governmental ethics, inflation, automobile and product liability, insurance costs, health care, criminal sentencing and land use and energy conservation.

The Palatine representative serves on the public utilities, elections, revenue and human resources committees of the House, and is chairman of the subcommittee on replacement of the personal property tax.

MUGALIAN ALSO is a member of the advisory commission on the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission and vice chairman of the commission on Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities.

He has twice been named "Best Legislator" by the Independent Voters of Illinois.

Mugalian is also chairman of the House Democratic Study Group, an organization consisting of 25 independent Democrats.

Yonkers says he won't seek re-election to post

Frend H. Yonkers, Wheeling Township Republican Committeeman for the past four years, Monday said he will not seek re-election.

"The main problem is lack of time," Yonkers said, noting that he has to give more time to his insurance business. "I would love to continue being committeeman, but there just is not enough time."

Yonkers, 52, has been active in the Wheeling Township Republican organization for 10 years, serving as vice-chairman for six years before becoming committeeman.

Frend Yonkers

Noting that he became committeeman in the aftermath of the Nixon resignation, Yonkers said he thinks the climate for Republicans has improved dramatically since then.

"I know that files in the face of national opinion," he said, "but remember I am talking about the political climate in the state of Illinois and Cook County."

Yonkers said he expects several people to run for the committeeman's post, but said he is not aware of any candidates to date. He said his announcement was timed to give the party sufficient time to find qualified candidates.

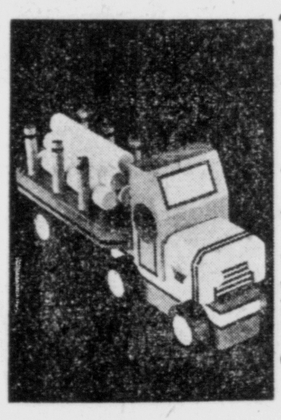
Those Christmas morning smiles.

Only you can put them there. Smiles are what our Dress-A-Doll® and Design-A-Toy® programs are all about. Smiles that mean a needy boy or girl is overjoyed with the doll or toy you made possible. It will happen this Christmas if you take part.

We have a doll, 19" tall, with arms, legs and eyes that move, waiting for you. It's free. Come in, take a doll home, design and sew an outfit for it, then return it to us when you're done. Your doll will be displayed in our lobby, judged, and prizes will be awarded. All dolls will be distributed as Christmas gifts to children who really need something to smile about.



Toys make little boys smile. We have wooden trucks ("six-wheelers") in three styles—log truck, fire truck, dump truck—for you. They're free. Take one home, assemble and paint the toy, return it to us for display and judging. Be as imaginative as you wish; your talent and effort will be appreciated by the child who receives your gift at Christmas time.

Dist. 59 mulls leaving NSSEO

Officials in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 will study the possibility of withdrawing from the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization and running their own special education programs for the district's students.

The Dist. 59 Board of Education Monday directed administrators to look into the matter. They are disappointed with the cost and services provided by the 10-school district cooperative, they said.

Dist. 59 contributes $25,000 to NSSEO each year and has about 100 students enrolled in the cooperative program for the trainable mentally handicapped, multiply handicapped, behavior-disordered, hearing-impaired and the orthopedically handicapped.

DIST. 59'S displeasure with NSSEO first surfaced in August, when the board voted not to approve the cooperative's $4.3 million budget for the current school year. The board objected to what it saw as exclusion from the budget development process and NSSEO's failure to economize.

"We were in fact ignored in our protests against the NSSEO budget," Board Pres. Harold Harvey said Monday. "We're paying the same amount we would have paid if we had approved the budget."

Board member Judith Zanca agreed she would like to find a less costly alternative for meeting the needs of the district's special education students, but she said "it's like walking a tightrope.

"We're almost obligated to be part of the cooperative," she said. "Under the rules of the state, whatever we do in the way of special education requires Dr. (Edward) MacDonald's signature to get reimbursement." MacDonald is director of NSSEO.

TWO YEARS ago, however, district officials secured NSSEO's agreement to run its own program for the deaf after parents expressed dissatisfaction with the one operated by the cooperative, then housed at Kensington School in Arlington Heights. Dist. 59's program for the deaf was disbanded this year as five of its six students reached junior high age and moved on to NSSEO's program at River Trails Junior High School, Mount Prospect.

Board member Barbara Somogyi cautioned her colleagues to consider potential enrollment in special education programs and not just finances in making their final decision. The small numbers of students who would participate in an individual class could limit the social contact some children would have with others their own age, she said.

Taxicabs granted fare increase

Fare increases for the two taxicab companies operating in Arlington Heights were approved Monday by the village board.

The new ordinance, which will take effect as soon as it is published, sets maximum rates that allow the Arlington City Cab Co. and Arlington Best Cab Co. to charge 70 cents for the first one-seventh mile, as much as $1.39 for the first mile and 80 cents for each additional mile.

The last taxicab fare increases were approved by the village two years ago. Company officials said the increases are needed to cover rising costs.

Both companies now are allowed to charge 70 cents for the first one-seventh mile, with the first mile costing $1.30 and each additional mile costing 70 cents.

THE VILLAGE BOARD rejected the finance committee's recommendation that two separate rate structures be established, allowing Arlington City Cab Co. to charge slightly more because it participates in the village's subsidized transportation program for senior citizens.

Arlington Best Cab Co. has decided to no longer participate in the subsidized program under which the village pays $1 for each ride taken by a senior citizen, with the rider paying 50 cents.

Both companies insist they lose money in the program.

Arlington Best Cab Co., however, had asked for the smaller fare increases, which subsequently were recommended by the village board's finance committee. By setting maximum rates, Arlington Best Cab Co. still may charge the lower fares, which amount to $1.35 for the first mile and 75 cents for each additional mile.

Hospital traffic study expected in 2 months

A traffic study to determine whether to close a private road east of Northwest Community Hospital or realign it to connect Ridge and Fernandez avenues will not be completed for at least two months.

The study of traffic in the vicinity of the hospital was ordered in May by Arlington Heights trustees. For three months beginning in June traffic was counted and in September the hospital road was closed to learn where through traffic will go, Village Engineer Allen J. Sander said.

The realignment was proposed to alleviate safety problems caused by motorists using the hospital road as a shortcut between Central and Kirchoff roads.

RESIDENTS FROM Ridge and Fernandez avenues objected to the plan, saying traffic on their streets would increase and create hazards for children walking to Park School, South Junior High School, Our Lady of the Wayside and Pioneer Park.

They supported a plan proposed by hospital officials to close the north end of the hospital road where it intersects with Kirchoff Road, which temporarily has been done to gauge traffic.

Sander said automatic traffic counters have been installed on various streets in the area but that installation of stoplights at Central Road and Fernandez Avenue and Kirchoff Road and Ridge Avenue may invalidate the present count.

"We want to leave the counters on long enough to get an accurate count," Sander said. "That may take at least another two months."

The study is being conducted by Barton Aschman, an Evanston engineering firm, Sander said.

Committee to consider parks clubhouse plan

Plans to spend $620,000 for a golf course clubhouse and maintenance building will be discussed at 8 a.m. today by the facilities committee of the Arlington Heights Park District.

The park board last week postponed making a decision on the clubhouse plans when about 40 residents attended the board's meeting to object.

Most of the opposition centered on the park board's plans to include banquet facilities and a children's nursery in the clubhouse planned for the golf course now under construction at Central and Wilke roads.

OPPONENTS INCLUDED representatives of the National Taxpayers United of Illinois, a local taxpayers' alliance called Taxpayers Action Group, and the chairman of the former Citizens' Committee for the Utilization of the Nike Base. The committee was the main force behind the U.S. Army's donation of 90 acres for the golf course.

The residents urged the park board to reduce the clubhouse plans and stay within the $1.5 million golf course budget approved by voters in a referendum last October.

Park officials say banquet facilities are needed if company golf outings are to be held at the course scheduled to open in May 1979. Such events usually are good moneymakers, they said.

A final vote on whether to approve the bids submitted for the clubhouse and maintenance building is expected at the park board meeting Oct. 24.

Information on federal rent subsidies available

Low-income families in Arlington Heights as well as elderly and handicapped persons, can meet with Cook County Housing Authority representatives at the municipal building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd., to determine if they're eligible for federal rent subsidies.

The CCHA field representatives will be available from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Under the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development's Section 8 housing program, low-income, elderly and handicapped persons pay no more than 25 per cent of their gross monthly income for rent. The federal government pays the difference.

Eligibility for the federal rent subsidies depends on family size and annual income.

CCHA HAS SET aside 50 rent subsidies for Arlington Heights residents this year, which meets one of the village's housing-assistance goals outlined in its application for U.S. Housing and Community Development funds.

The village's housing-assistance plan also calls for the development of 40 new units of subsidized housing in each of the next three years.

The rent subsidy certificates can be used anywhere an agreement is reached beteen the holder of the certificate and a landlord, said James Holzwart, administrative assistant for the village. However, the history of the Section 8 housing program shows 70 per cent of the rent subsidy certificates are used by tenants where they lived prior to receiving the federal subsidy, he said.

Village approves underpass plans

Street.

SIX PERSONS from the audience spoke about the underpass Monday, mostly to offer suggestions on detour routes and reducing the construction time for the project, which now is predicted to take two years.

Alan H. MacDonald, 515 S. Belmont Ave., suggested construction be done around the clock to reduce the construction period. Frank Psota, a dentist with offices at 106 N. Evergreen Ave., suggested moving the railway station, now located between Evergreen and Dunton avenues in the middle of the central business district.

Village Engineer Allen Sander responded that to have "real benefit" the station would have to be moved either west or east at least 2,000 feet and it then would have detrimental effects on residential areas.

Trustee Schroeder said she voted against the underpass plan because she first wanted to hear the village planning department's recommendations.

Conference has meaningful role

The Northwest Municipal Conference has grown up.

In the past years it has grown from a loose federation of suburban officials to a viable organization and leading force in solving area problems.

Willaim Muhlenfeld was named executive director of the conference in 1975 and is credited with many of the accomplishments by the organization.

But credit also is due the municipalities that comprise the organization for increasing willingness to join together to look out for the interests of the Northwest suburbs.

Recently, for example, the municipalities discovered that they each had different arrangements with the state for maintenance of traffic signals. Deciding they should all be treated equally, they went to the state and called for reform. The result was a new formula that may save the Northwest suburbs thousands of dollars.

Calling it a partial victory, the conference is continuing to work with the state on the problem.

A similar approach has been taken in dealing with problems like sanitation, water conservation, police recruitment and purchase of equipment.

One of the agency's latest projects is arranging meetings between area municipal officials and state and federal legislators. These meetings are designed to acquaint representatives from this area with problems facing Northwest suburban communities.

Since Muhlenfeld was hired, the agency's full-time staff has grown to four. This has allowed the conference to tackle increasingly complex matters such as legislation pending in Springfield.

The conference's actions have helped in the development of an area identity, giving the Northwest suburbs credibility they never had before in dealing with state and federal agencies.

Bing's song has ended

Bing Crosby has headed off on his last "road."

The venerable crooner was playing golf in Spain when the end came. That itself is a tribute to the vitality that kept him active in show business far beyond the age when most men retire to rocking chairs.

Mr. Crosby's career began in 1924 and blossomed during the 1930's when the "Road" films with Bob Hope provided diversion for a Depression-weary population and his unique vocal style inspired young lovers.

Later he starred on television specials and in TV commercials, bringing a comfortable "old shoe" kind of charm to any endeavor.

Other performers were superstars who led exciting, somewhat wicked lives. Bing Crosby always seemed an average guy — a gentle, generous uncle you'd be happy to invite home.

The only time Mr. Crosby's fans worried about him was when, after his first wife (of 22 years) died, he married a much younger woman, Kathryn Grant. There was some head-shaking at that May-December match, but it soon disappeared as the second family grew. Unlike so many show business figures, Mr. Crosby was destined to be happily married.

Mr. Crosby was 73, just about the Biblical "three score years and ten." He brought happiness to millions.

We suspect St. Peter has already assigned him a harp.

Keep a Sunday library

The Mount Prospect Library Board's decision to close that facility on Sundays to ease its current financial pinch is a disservice to library patrons.

Sunday is the only day many residents can use the library. Closing it would place an unnecessary hardship on them.

The library board has decided to close the library on Friday evenings and Sundays as a result of its failure to pass a library tax rate increase and bond issue in a recent referendum. Because officials say the library budget under the old tax rate is insufficient, it is clear service cutbacks must be made somewhere.

But Sunday is not the place to cut.

Currently, the library is open only three hours on Sunday — from 2 to 5 p.m. But more residents come to the library per hour on Sunday than any other day of the week. During that three-hour period, an average of 325 patrons uses the library, 108 per hour.

This contrasts with lower library patronage on Fridays. The library draws 478 patrons on the average during the 12 hours it is open on Fridays. This is only about 40 patrons per hour, less than half the Sunday rate. Use on other days of the week is somewhat higher.

If library service cutbacks need to be made, Friday or some other day of the week could be eliminated. Sunday hours should be retained — or even expanded — for the convenience of those who find it difficult to visit the facility any other day.

Senate filibuster rules need post-cloture change

Martha Angle and Robert Walters
In Washington

The life of a vice president is seldom easy, as the inimitable Mr. Dooley observed more than 70 years ago.

"It is his dooty to rigorously enforce the rules iv the' Sinit. There ar-re none. The Sinit is ruled by courtesy — like the longshoremen's union."

If anything, Finley Peter Dunne's immortal fictional observer of the American political scene probably owes an apology to the longshoremen.

THERE WAS FAR MORE order on the strikebound docks of the nation recently than there was in the United States Senate as Vice President Mondale and Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd teamed up to break the two-week filibuster over natural gas deregulation.

This was no ordinary Senate filibuster. Sens. James Abourezk, D-S.D., and Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, leaders of the fight to keep controls on natural gas prices, could not muster enough support to keep an old-fashioned talkathon going.

BUT INSTEAD OF conceding defeat once the required 60 senators voted to invoke cloture, supposedly curtailing debate, Abourezk and Metzenbaum resorted to the parliamentary equivalent of guerrilla warfare.

Employing a variety of dilatory tactics first devised by conservative Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., they created such utter chaos in the Senate that Byrd was finally driven to desperation.

Enlisting Mondale as a virtual puppet, the majority leader used raw power to bludgeon Abourezk and Metzenbaum into submission. And even though most of his colleagues felt Byrd was justified in his actions, many senators were deeply concerned about the precedent set by the majority leader.

Ironically, the entire debacle might well have been averted had the Senate Republicans, who were so anxious to put a halt to this particular filibuster, not dragged their heels earlier this year on proposed rules changes.

FOR WEEKS, Byrd tried to persuade the GOP minority to agree to modifications of the filibuster rule that would sharply restrict the sort of post-cloture delaying tactics which Abourezk and Metzenbaum used to devastating effect in the deregulation battle.

Because the GOP refused, Byrd finally gave up his attempt to push a rules change through the Senate, jerking the reform plan off the calendar last May. Without Republican support, the majority leader acknowledged, there was no way to obtain the two-thirds vote needed to change any Senate rule.

The minority may have learned its lesson from the bitter experience in the gas deregulation fight. Minority Leader Howard Baker has now appointed three Republican senators to work on a revision of the filibuster rule.

A CHANGE IS certainly needed. Filibusters can serve a useful purpose. They guard against hasty action in the passion of the moment. They insure a full debate of the issue at hand. They protect the rights of the minority.

But once three-fifths of the Senate, or 60 members, vote to curtail debate, that should put an end to the delays. Neither a Jim Allen resisting some civil rights measure, nor a Jim Abourezk fighting deregulation of gas prices, should be permitted to block the entire Senate from working its will after that 60-vote hurdle is crossed.

The answer man: Dems save GOP from an RIP

by ARNOLD SAWISLAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Answer Man has been taking stock of the political parties and has staggered back to report today.

Question: The Republican National Committee recently met in New Orleans. Isn't a Democratic stronghold like that an odd place for the GOP to assemble?

Answer Man: Yes, but they went there for the restaurants. We all have heard of the doomed man eating a hearty last meal.

QUESTION: WE hear there are some Republicans who think the name of the party ought to be changed. Is that a possibility?

Answer Man: Indeed. Unless things change soon, GOP will be RIP. However, I am told the Republicans have conducted a contest to find a new name that would make them popular again.

Question: And what was the winning entry?

Answer Man: Farah Fawcett-Majors.

QUESTION: WE also hear the Republicans are raising money to buy a permanent headquarters building named for Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Answer Man: Yes, but that wasn't their first choice. They decided to go with a building honoring Ike when Jimmy told them the Lincoln Memorial was not for sale.

Question: Speaking of the Democrats, is it true they are going to revise their party rules again?

Answer Man: Yes. They discovered that despite their best efforts it was possible to nominate and elect a president under the rules they wrote for 1976. That immediately set up a hue and cry for reform.

Question: Do the Democrats still argue with each other all the time?

Answer Man: That is one area that will never see reform. Recently, the national executive committee bickered for more than an hour over the question of assessing state parties $150 or $125 for each delegate to pay for the 1978 mini-convention.

QUESTION: WASN'T that an awful waste of time?

Answer Man: Not at all. It gave the Democrats a new idea for raising funds and encouraging survival of the two party system.

Question: By assessing delegates?

Answer Man: No, by selling tape recordings of their meetings to the Republicans. Five minutes of listening to a Democratic discussion would cheer up even the most suicidal Republican.

QUESTION: WE also hear there is some unhappiness at the Democratic National Committee about the White House staff ignoring the party leadership in deciding party policy.

Answer Man: Nothing to it. Democratic national chairman Ken Curtis says he is the first person the president tells when Hamilton Jordan decides what the party should do.

'Ethics rules an invasion'

I have been reading the articles in The Herald recently concerning the ethics statements that the employes of the village of Wheeling are expected to submit.

What kind of idiocy is this?

I happen to be related to an employe of the Village of Wheeling, but I do not live in the village — so if my relative would question me concerning my economic status for the purpose of reporting it to the Village of Wheeling, my response would be — "You must be kidding — my economic status is none of Wheeling's concern. It's enough that this information has to be reported to the federal government, the state government, the county, the township and my city."

And if this would be my reaction to my own son, can you imagine the response he might get from a "long-time-no-see" uncle, cousin or in-law? I would venture to say that they would resent such an inquisition and certainly would question the purpose of such an inquiry — since Wheeling has a reputation for infamous shakedowns.

What possible concern is it of the Village of Wheeling what the economic status is of anyone other than the employes themselves and even that is an invasion of their privacy and violates their constitutional rights.

Such statements and disclosures should be forthcoming from people who run for public office only — not the employes — who are trying to do their jobs properly and, in the case of the policemen and firemen, just trying to stay alive!!!!

'Ducks dead'

I have just heard of a vicious act that has made me physically ill and roaring mad! Recently (I believe in the Plum Grove Estates area) four ducks were found dead — two with arrows still imbedded in their little bodies!

Those ducks lived in Salt Creek in the belief they had a refuge. Many of us along the creek have devoted our full attention to the ducks and their offspring throughout the summer months for years. We feed them religiously and worry about them constantly. We've had three or four families at once on our lawn. Now we have been worrying over the last two (male and female) who visit us daily. Just now I fed one — and the ever-protective male was not to be seen. I shudder to think!

How anyone could possibly take bow and arrow to those tame, trusting and beautiful creatures is beyond comprehension! They make wonderful still targets as the paddle in the water for cruel, inhuman and totally thoughtless and uncaring kids to have "their fun." What kind of little beasts can these kids be? What kind of parents do they have? Their fun is over — so is the life of each of the four innocent ducks!

We all also feed and try to protect all of our wildlife, which is dwindling fast. My husband buys 50-60 loaves of bread at a time to try to keep the surviving raccoons alive. (He saw a dead one floating down the creek last week and it surely didn't drown!) Most of our neighbors feed and care for the wildlife in their areas. We appreciate and love this bit of God's creatures. We are fighting a losing battle.

Well, there are four (five?) fewer ducks for us to worry about as some little brats have had their chance to show just how rotten the human race can be. I am trying to control my anger. Sure would like to know who the kids and their parents are!

I remember a quote: "The boy killed the frog in jest; the frog died in earnest."

Traffic hazard

I live at the Walden Apartments and lately I have had to see my dentist quite frequently. He is located at Plaza de Las Flores, right across the road from the Walden Apartments. My appointments are for 5 p.m. so as not to interfere with my work.

Now to my problem. Living that close, naturally I just walk across the road, which at that hour is next to impossible and quite dangerous to say the least. Even driving out from Walden onto Algonquin Road between 3 to 6 p.m. is frustrating. As I see it, the main reason for this is that the oncoming traffic on Meacham Road is allowed to turn on red during rush hours.

Committee on committees bound in tape

by MELVIN MADDOCKS

When President Carter was a candidate, he pledged to reduce bureaucracy and red tape — to cut back on those self-perpetuating reports and memos and special forms and all-around paperwork that have become 20th-century man's substitute for accomplishment.

When he took office, naturally — don't laugh! — a committee, or rather committees, were set up to write reports on how all this could be achieved. The Select Committee on Committees is supposed to explain by next July what shoul dbe done to curb galloping committee-itis.

Everybody just hopes the SC on C does better than the Federal Paperwork Commission, which wrestled for months with the question: How do away with as much paperwork as possible? The FPC's recommendation (requiring plenty of paper, you can be sure): Create a new Cabinet-level office.

THE TRAGICOMIC CONCLUSION is inescapable. The cure for bureaucracy becomes more bureaucracy; the cure for paperwork, more paperwork.

"Simplify! Simplify!" said Henry Thoreau — but at least he said it in two words. The Dept. of Health, Education, and Welfare, in response to Carter's cry, has composed a complex set of "guidelines" on how to simplify itself that runs on for 43 pages.

The White House is far from guiltless. Federal agencies are complaining that one of the most superfluous snarls of red tape, is a new not-very-simple form the White House require them to fill out, measuring what progress they have made in their assignment to simplify.

How to stop this vicious cycle of inflation of words and unemployment of intelligence — this abundant proof that two heads are not always better than one?

THE FIRST THING WE have to do is remind ourselves that paper-proliferation and galloping committee-itis were not invented yesterday. We are so fond of believing that all the "crises" known to man originated in our lifetime, preferably no further back than 1960.

In fact, it is almost half a century since T.S. Eliot perfectly described the committee-problem in "Difficulties of a Statesman."

Cry Cry what shall I cry?
The first thing to do is to form
the committees:
The consultative councils, the standing committees,
select committees and sub-committees . . .

FOR FURTHER HISTORICAL perspective, see the Romans, buried under an empire of paperwork.

That second and more imporatant fact we tend to forget is that committees and paperwork are not intrinsically bad. Magna Carta and the Declaration of Independence were conceived by committees. The King James Bible was a translation-by-committee.

If two heads are not automatically better than one, they are not automatically worse either. It can be as much of a formula to say, "Abolish the committee!" as it is to say, "Form a committee!" Good ideas have been known to improve by the buffing of discussion. Plato's dialogues constitute a kind of philosophy-by-committee.

Carter's goal of problem-solving praiseworthy, but not soul-stirring

by JOSEPH C. HARSCH

In last week's New Yorker magazine Elizabeth Drew has a study of the trials, tribulations and purposes of the Carter administration that I find particularly helpful in my own effort to understand what is, and is not, going on in Washington.

She quotes presidential aide Hamilton Jordan as insisting that the Carter administration has a plan and a goal. But when she pressed for an identification of plan and goal he ended up saying that "the key is to solve problems."

He could identify specific purposes such as to balance the budget, reorganize the government and find a new nonideological approach to the welfare problem. But at no point did he suggest that there was any philosophical purpose above and beyond the effort to "solve problems."

YES. AND what else should there be?

Just to say that a presidential purpose is to solve problems leaves the reader with a sense of wanting something more. It seems dull, unexciting, unimaginative to set as the highest goal for the most powerful man in the world — nothing more than to "solve problems."

It sounds just as dull, unexciting and unimaginative when one lays out the problems the Carter administration should, and is, trying to solve. None of them are new. The goals are noncontroversial.

Mostly, most Americans are agreed on what is desirable. They all want the present welfare system reformed. They all want a stable economy — with no inflation. But of course a lot of persons also want guaranteed full employment — and how do you get full employment without more inflation?

OVERSEAS, MOST Americans can agree on what is to be desired. They want Soviet power contained, but without nuclear war. They want peace between Arabs and Israelis in order that there need not be another oil crisis that could do even more damage to the American economy than the last one did. They want Fidel Castro to stop causing trouble in Latin America. They want good neighbors to the south — but half of the Americans apparently do not want to pay the price of giving up sovereignty over the Panama Canal.

One could almost encapsulate what most Americans want, or think they want, by saying the national goal is an environmental within which each American can drive his own automobile as much as he likes with unlimited gasoline, forever, at a constant price.

Americans have been through heroic times. The winning and settlement of the North American continent was heroic in scale and in endeavor. The American Civil War was dreadfully costly, perhaps could and should have been avoided, but had heroic aspects — on both sides.

American intervention in World War I was on heroic scale and, in the eyes of many, noble in purpose. World War II was the nearest thing the modern world has known to a bona fide crusade. Adolf Hitler manifested undoubted evil. It was a good and right thing to make great sacrifice to purge the world of such evil.

AND AFTER the heroic efforts of World War II there was still the stirring purpose of meeting the challenge of communism.

Americans, and their friends and allies, have lived through strenuous and exciting times. They have invested their lives and treasure in great causes. And now where is the next crusade? One can't help feeling let down by two political facts of America today. One is that President Carter's goal is "to solve problems." The other is that the once noble Republican party is marching toward the next election chanting "Keep the Panama Canal."

To solve problems is certainly praiseworthy, but not soul-stirring. To keep the Panama Canal makes America look to the outside world like some miserable old miser clinging to a tarnished dollar he does not truly need.

In other words, these are not times that try men's souls or rouse a great people to new greatness. There is nothing heroic about the times, or about the leading characters on the public stage. There is no visible and generally accepted evil such as Hitlerism to be stamped out. there is no clear perception of a new and better order of human society to be won. Communism has discredited itself by its own failures. There is no shining new milennium being preached, or sought. We just have some very difficult problems.

IN TRYING to solve American problems, Carter has challenged every important lobby in the country. Political action in Washington today revolves largely around the conflict between special interests and the general interest. Carter is outraging the special interests, which are always at their strongest and loudest in nonheroic times. People in pursuit of great purposes tend to submerge or put aside their selfish group interests.

But then one can't live always in heroic times. The strain becomes too much. And, after all, it is the rest from great effort that is the very purpose of that effort. To overcome great evil or achieve noble purpose is to win a period of "normalcy." Today isn't all bad, even if Republicans can't think of any nobler cause than hanging on to an obsolete canal.

FDA to begin warning women of estrogen risk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration said Monday it is going ahead with a controversial order to warn women taking estrongen drugs for menopause of a possible cancer risk.

Beginning Tuesday the estimated 5 million American women who take estrogen drugs for menopausal and post-menopausal problems will be given a pamphlet when they have the prescripton filled. It will spell out the dangers and state the FDA does not believe the drugs have power to restore a person's youth.

Women will be urged to reevaluate the need for estrogens with their doctors every six months and to take "the lowest dose possible for the shortest time."

ABOUT 22 MILLION prescriptions are filled for the drugs each year. The biggest seller is "Premarin" while others on the market include "Hormonin," "Estratab," "Evex," "Menset," "Femogen" and "Ogen."

FDA Comr. Donald Kennedy told a news conference a survey of manufacturers shows they will make "every effort" to have the warning pamphlets in the hands of druggists by Tuesday, despite legal and procedural challenges which have delayed the order.

A federal court earlier this month overturned objections by the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn. and the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists to delay the requirement, and there are legal challenges in other federal courts.

Kennedy said "the most serious risk is cancer of the lining of the uterus. The risk of such cancer for a woman taking estrogens for longer than a year is five to 10 times greater than for a woman who has never taken estrogens. And the risk is directly related to the amount and length of time they are taken.

"Further, women who use estrogens after menopause are about two and one-half times as likely to develop gall bladder disease requiring surgery."

Kennedy said the brochure will say "these drugs should not be used to treat simple nervousness and depression during menopause, because they have not been shown effective for these purposes, and that they also have not been shown effective for keeping the skin soft or for helping women feel younger after menopause."

Kennedy noted that it is possible for a woman to take estrogens "during her entire adult life" because they are also used in birth control pills.

Cuba's obligation is to help poor: Castro

Cuban President Fidel Castro Monday defended Cuba's intervention in Africa in a finger-wagging speech, telling a cheering crowd it was the Communist nation's "sacred obligation" to help poorer countries. In a 70-minute speech in Montego Bay, Jamaica, Castro, dressed in his customary military fatigues, promised not to intervene in Jamaican affairs. "We consider it our most sacred obligation to cooperate with countries less developed and poorer than we are," Castro told the flag-waving crowd that he personally estimated at 100,000 persons.

"That is what we call internationalism," he told Jamaicans jamming Sam Sharpe Square, which was named for the leader of a Jamaican slave rebellion. Castro is in Jamaica for a five-day state visit, which began Sunday. Tight security has been in effect since he arrived aboard a Cuban navy ship. Immediately after Castro departed, a spontaneous calypso dance erupted in the square and the smell of marijuana hung heavy in the air.

Mexico prison guards afraid

Sporadic fighting among rival prisoners at overcrowded Jalisco State Penitentiary in Guadalajara, Mexico has wounded convicts every day since last week's riot that killed 14 inmates, but a prison guard said Monday police are afraid to intervene. "Every day, two or three guys are wounded in fighting and taken to hospitals in an ambulance," the guard said. "Everybody thinks the prisoners are hiding machine guns and possibly bombs, so the police are afraid to go in." This reporter saw a prisoner who appeared to be paralyzed in both legs being lifted into an ambulance. Officials said the man had suffered an "accident."

About 100 police, some armed with anti-riot gear, surround the 45-year-old prison, which looks like a medieval castle. Prison Director Pedro Parra has admitted he has no control of what goes on inside the prison.

Yanks seized on yacht OK: Viet

Vietnam assured the United States Monday three Americans aboard a yacht seized in the South China Sea last week are alive and well, a State Department spokesman in Washington said. The Vietnamese embassy in Paris told the U.S. embassy the crew was "now in custody of the Vietnamese authorities in Ho Chi Minh City (Saigon)," the spokesman said. Vietnam previously had not responded to State Department inquiries about the fate of the crew. The 39-foot sailboat Brillig was seized by the Vietnamese navy last Wednesday. It was last heard from Friday when radio messages from the yacht said crew members were "all OK" as it was towed to Vietnam.

Saccharin ban delay has accord

The House Monday agreed with the Senate to delay a proposed ban on saccharin for 18 months, but differences on labeling requirements will have to be reconciled before final approval. The House voted 375-23 for its bill responding to a Food and Drug Administration plan to ban the use of saccharin because testing showed it caused cancer in animals. The 18-month period would begin when the President signs the bill and the FDA could not order an earlier date. The FDA has invited public comment until Nov. 1, after which it will evaluate comments and determine if and when to seek the ban. The Senate bill would require labeling of all products containing saccharin warning the sweetener causes cancer in animals and "may increase your risk of contracting cancer."

Claim some hair dyes cause cancer

A public interest group claimed Monday some widely used permanent hair dyes contain a chemical which is a potential cause of cancer, but the cosmetics industry emphatically opposed the claim. The industry said the allegation the dyes have a cancer causer which can be absorbed through the scalp was based on unevaluated laboratory test data. To the contrary, it said, there is now a substantial body of research which shows hair dyes are safe. The Environmental Defense Fund announced it had petitioned the Food and Drug Administration to label products containing the chemical 4MMPB or 4 MMPDS with the warning: "This product contains the chemical 4-methoxy-phenylenediamine, which can enter your bloodstream through your scalp and has been shown to cause cancer in animals."

Buddy Cochran pleads innocent

Buddy Cochran pleaded innocent by reason of insanity Monday to charges of driving his sports car into a Ku Klux Klan rally in President Carter's hometown of Plains July 2, injuring 30 people. Circuit Judge William Blanks denied a defense request for a change of venue after Cochran claimed he feared for his life in this southwest Georgia area — 10 miles from Plains. Cochran, 30, then waived formal arraignment and pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to eight counts of aggravated assault. Cochran's wife, Mary Sue, testified earlier she had received some 50 threatening calls since the July 2 incident. She said her home had been broken into with "everything ransacked."

Fighting the cold war

Layering answer to winter's chill

by MARIANNE SCOTT

It's November in the year 2077. Everyone is still talking about the weather and no one does anything about it. It still gets cold in winter.

But no matter. You have your solar heated housing, your solar heated shower and — your solar heated jumpsuit to keep you comfy in getting to and fro.

The chic, wired and insulated suit has receptors on the shoulders, or perhaps on the wrists or atop your hood.

Or perhaps the suit is fashioned from some fabric yet to be invented. Something that contracts in winter to keep out the cold and opens up in summer to catch the breezes.

Meanwhile — back to the present with the energy crunch getting crunchier.

At least for a limited time we can keep chirping in cold outdoor weather with ideas borrowed from our feathered friends — puffed up, down-filled outerwear. And we have warm woolens, courtesy of sheared sheep, furs and leathers, thanks to various "donors," and manmade fabrics, thanks to some pre-historic animals.

BUT SOONER or later we must return to our nest or lair, which, again thanks to fossils, is heated. But therein lies the rub. There aren't enough fossils available anymore to keep us as warm as we'd like. Even keeping our homes at temperatures less than comfortable is hitting us where it hurts a lot — in the pocketbook.

The best known solution to ward off the shivers at home and in the office is to pile it on. Layer your sweaters, layer your skirts. Wrap your legs. And wear your hair longer.

With thermostats turned down, the climate indoors becomes intense sweater weather. Double layer knits trap air between layers to form an insulative blanket that will keep you up to 59 per cent warmer than conventionally constructed sweaters.

Sweaters with oversized turtles are warmest. A vest layered over the sweater will keep you even warmer. A floor-length sweater will keep you warm in fancy restaurants or any formal occasion. There are short-sleeved sweaters to be worn over warm shirts and blouses, long-sleeved sweaters to be worn over anything. There are even sweaters for your legs. Never have there been so many sweaters and ponchos in the stores.

FORTUNATELY MINI skirts are a nightmare of the past, relegated where they belong — on the tennis courts and other sports areas. The longer, and therefore warmer, skirt should be around for a long time.

With these skirts wear long, ribby hose, boots, warm knee socks or the new sweater knit leggings. Layer your skirt over another skirt or a woolly dress. Think also in terms of tunics which can go over most anything.

While there are more dresses and skirts in the stores than there have been for years, you really can't beat slacks for warmth and warding off drafts around the legs. Worn with ankle-high shearling boots, knee-highs or warm panty hose or thermal underwear, slacks are sure to help fight the cold war.

For evening glamor you don't have to wear a decollete neckline that bares your chest or a gown with low back that shows the goose pimples on your goose pimples. The covered-up look, especially the body stocking look with warm skirt, is just as sexy. Under the long skirt you can wear thermals, or whatever. Who's to know?

Speaking of thermals, let's not pooh pooh long johns. For our forefathers union suits were a way of life and with lowered indoor temperatures, long underwear, "snuggies," knee warmers, ankle warmers and chest warmers may no longer be the prerogative of older folks. We may all be happy to relieve "cold in the bones," especially those of us who just sit around all day in sedentary jobs.

TODAY'S UPDATED versions of these cold weather friends are made from light weight fabrics that retain body heat yet let perspiration evaporate. Basic next-to-the-skin layering for Arctic explorers, Olympic teams and amateur sportspeople, these garments are designed for all over warmth and comfort. Some pieces can now double as underwear, sleepwear or daytime tops for slacks and skirts. Some can even be worn under low necklines or sleeveless gowns.

The one accessory of the season that will probably add more warmth than any other and also a smashing touch to your wardrobe is the shawl. These come in beautiful, heavy knits, light knits, flowery fabrics, tweeds and just about any materials you can name. Even silks. They can be worn over everything from coats and sweaters to evening gowns and slacks.

Shawls are great for at-home wear, too. Maybe not for scrubbing floors or bustling around the kitchen, but for relaxing with a good book or watching TV. As for loungewear, it doesn't have to be dowdy to be warm.

Cozy fleeces, corduroys and soft and woolly fabrics are all still popular for loungewear, but the news this fall and winter is in layered loungewear. Shrugs, shawls and quilted vests now vie with robes for fighting the energy crisis.

FOR AT-HOME entertaining, panne velvet is back on the scene. This shimmery fabric is a velvet with the pile crushed all in one direction. It is warm as well as glamorous.

Until now energy-conscious dressing has been new for most Americans, and getting it all together will be a challenge. The English, on the other hand, are pros at layering and assembling warm wardrobes because their homes and offices have never been heated to what we Americans would call comfortable.

It follows that many of the warm dressing ideas have stemmed from England; however, we have a lot to learn and from all energy reports, we had better learn fast.

Of course energy-conscious clothing also includes keeping cool in summer when there will be less energy to cool our homes and offices. So watch for absorbent body suits, likely in cotton or cotton blends, topped with aerated skirts split at the hemlines to allow for air flow.

In reality it's easier to pile on the layers to keep warm, but there's a limit to how much one can take off to keep cool. Will bikinis in the office be a coming trend?

The doctor says

Heart attact doesn't always have warning

I can't seem to get the answer to my questions. I am a male, 67, 175 pounds and 5 feet 8. I have never been in a hospital until two weeks ago and in general have had excellent health. I don't use coffee, liquor or tobacco.

Recently I felt a numbness in my arm, so I had a complete physical, brain wave tracing, electrocardiogram and the works. I was told I was in excellent health and nothing was amiss.

One day after receiving this report I suffered a heart attack and am waiting to learn if I will need a bypass operation.

Would some phase of this complete physical examination indicate some warning of a clot formation?

What warning sign might be looked for in case of a future attack? Apparently numbness is not sufficient.

"I think I've heard that song before." Many people don't seem to realize that heart disease is a "silent killer." You may not have a single symptom, even numbness, before the heart attack strikes. A healthy appearing man in his middle 40s may suddenly crumple over with chest pain and be dead in minutes.

That is why people simply must have a preventive program. When the first sign or symptom is an attack causing death, it is too late to do anything about it.

Also, it doesn't make any difference what or who is at the hospital if you are dead on arrival. The best doctors and facilities in the world will not help then.

THE FREQUENCY of this problem is why I recommend that all adults should learn how to aid a victim of heart attack. You simply do not know when it is going to happen, even after a good medical examination. When a major portion of a population learns what to do the death rate can be cut in half, as has occurred in Seattle, Washington. I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-4, Save A Life: Heart and Lung Arrest, so you can learn more about this.

More to the point, encourage someone around you to learn how, as it might save your life.

I would encourage all of my readers to contact their nearest chapter of the American Heart Assn. and find out if they have any courses they can take in learning how to do this procedure.

NUMBNESS OF THE ARM can be caused by many things, including bursitis and arthritis. Heart pain is more apt to be of short duration, unless it is an actual attack. The disease is actually in the artery going to the heart muscle. There is no way to see these arteries unless you do special X-ray examinations of the type I presume you will have to see whether you need a bypass operation.

The pain and findings of a heart attack are caused when the heart muscle is not getting enough blood. That may not occur until the moment the artery is blocked.

Exercise tests with electrocardiograms help detect those likely to have trouble. Otherwise the risk factors of increased blood cholesterol, high blood pressure and cigarette smoking are the main things that indicate the possibility of having an attack.

Raw beans, broccoli make low-calorie treat

Dear Roberta: I'm always astounded at the number of recipes for cooking green beans or broccoli in different sauces. These sauces seem to be designed to cover the flavor of the plain-cooked vegetables. Why cook them at all? Well-washed beans and brocoli flowerets are delicious when eaten raw. Broccoli on its stalk is a good low-calorie scoop for dips, also. — Harriet Kragh.

A platter of raw carrots and celery sticks, plus cauliflower and broccoli flowerets, is eye and taste appealing. Besides, one doesn't worry when eating these raw about leaching out nutrients from overcooking.

Kidstuff: Here's a Halloween project a parent can help a young child to do. For a 4-to 7-year-old, it requires more coordination than meets the adult eye. On sheets of orange or balck construction paper. draw the outlines of jack-o-lanterns with white chalk. If your little one has mastered the art of using scissors, he'll enjoy cutting out the pumpkin shapes. You can do the small areas and the tricky, angular cutting. Then "hang" the cutouts on his bedroom window with a dab of rubber cement. This adhesive will roll off glass effortlessly.

Dear Roberta: Iv've an addition to your column about kitchen counters being too high to mix dough comfortably and your suggestion to place the pan on a kitchen stool. If you put the pan in the kitchen sink, it will be several inches lower than the counter. Cleanups are easier, too. — Jessie Bishop.

Good idea. Sometimes the things right in front of one's eyes are the hardest to see.

Dear Roberta: Twisting plastic ice trays to get the ice cubes out requires both hands. I used to be helpless to catch the cubes that went awry. Now I put the tray in a plastic bag, give it a twist, and I have all the cubes corralled. — Jane Morningstar

Hints for highlighting face with flattering eyeglasses

NEW YORK (UPI) — The most flattering eyeglass frames are those that harmonize with your skin tones, a leading fashion designer says.

Halston, who created a collection of sunglasses and eyeglasses for Bausch and Lomb, offers the following guidelines in choosing frames that will highlight your coloring:

• Ivory skin — needs the definition of color, but not so much that it's overpowering Grays and yellows may appear washed out For subtle contrast, choose blue, violet or tortoise frame colors.

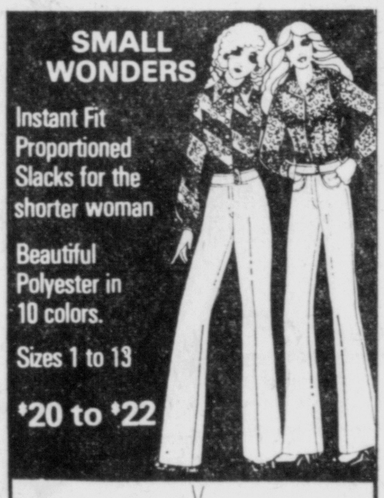
• Rosy complexion — take out the flushed look with pastel frames such as nude or tri-color blend of muted pinks, grays and blues.

• Ruddy skin — cool light blues, grays and light tortoise with a hint of yellow are most becoming. Stay away from darker frame colors.

• Tawny or freckled — light and dark tortoises and brown are good in general. Experiment with topaz frames to emphasize the golden highlights of tawny skin.

• Olive complexion — avoid yellows, grays and greens. Blues and browns warm up the skin and make it look less sallow.

• Black skin (yellow, red, blue or gray undertones) — best accented by neutral shades such as brown, nude or even dusky plum.



Flannel chosen for British look

Harry Juster

Look smart

FASHION NOTES: One of the men's wear suit fabrics this season with a definite British flavor is made of flannel. Thus, it is no surprise this classic fabric is a top choice with many clothing makers for the currently popular English look.

Austin Reed, who is in this group, picks a polyester and wool blend and styles it with natural shoulder lines, patch pockets, shaped waist, center vent and flapped-pocket vest.

Wearing an open-collar shirt with this suit isn't exactly British, but it is a sporty way to go when not "tied" up for the more dressy occasions.

Dear Mr. Juster: When I told my wife I want to get a red, blue and green tartan plaid sports jacket, she said she wouldn't be seen with me in anything so loud. I have a solid color blazer jacket and would use a new one only occasionally. What do you say? — T. R. (P.S. — I'm 42.)

As a one-and-only jacket, a bright tartan plaid might be questionable. But when a man under or over 42 now owns a solid blazer, a tartan jacket would add a smart change of pace in sport outfits. (P.S. — Team it with solid navy or dark green slacks.)

Dear Mr. Juster: Occasionally, I like to wear a solid black tie. However, the fellows at the office rib me about it and ask if I am going to a funeral. Your opinion of this kind of tie would be greatly appreciated. — C. M. H.

What do you wear with it? If a black tie is surrounded by a dark suit, the look is decidedly somber. However, if worn with a yellow or pink shirt and a medium gray suit, the over-all effect is quite smart and any ribbing by your fellow workers would be uncalled for.

Dear Mr. Juster: I found four perfectly good white shirts stacked away in my husband's closet. When I asked why he never wears them, he said colored shirts are now being worn and that he dislikes looking dated. I hate seeing these shirts wasted and wondered if I could dye them. — L. G.

Tell your husband whites are still being worn. However, if he insists on wearing only colored shirts, there's no point in letting these whites go to waste. There are a number good dyes for home use and if you follow the directions, you should have no problem changing colors.

CLOTHES-ING NOTE — The idea that a good appearance often helps make a favorable impression isn't exactly a new one. In 50 B.C. Publicus Syrus proclaimed, "A good exterior is a silent recommendation."

Make-it-with wool contest

The 1977 Make-It-Yourselfwith Wool contest will be conducted in four districts in Illinois this fall, according to Lynn A. Bredemeyer, University of Illinois Extension Service adviser.

Judging for District 1, which includes the Northwest suburban area, takes place Nov. 12 at Cherry Vale Mall, Rockford. The deadline for entering is Oct. 29. Other district competitions will be in Champaign, Carlinville and Macomb.

The contest is open to juniors, 14-17 and seniors, 18-24. District winners will compete Dec. 17 in the state contest at Bloomington and the national winners will be determined in Denver Jan. 19, 1978.

The contest rules are:

Contestants may enter only one district competition.

Contestants may enter more than one garment but may win with only one. A separate entry is required for each garment.

Materials used must contain at least 70 per cent wool. Entries whose fabric or yard contains less will be disqualified.

Entry blanks for District 1 are available from Mrs. Lawrence Ralston, 5694 Swanson Rd., Roscoe, Ill. 61073.

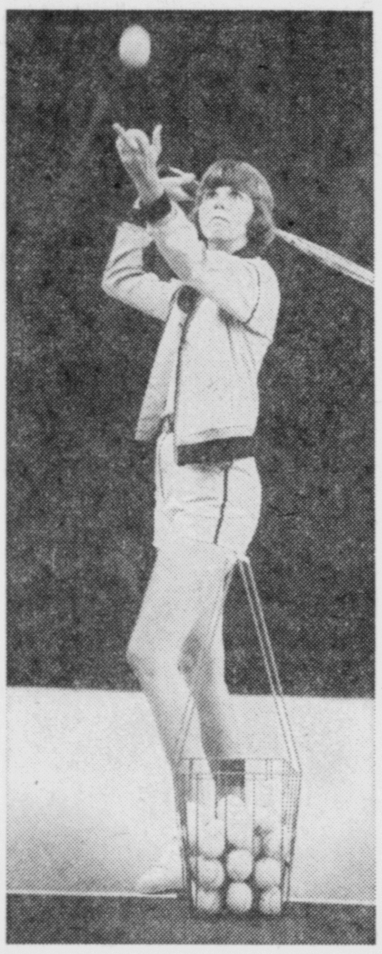
CAREER WOMAN or student, the Sorority House in Des Plaines can outfit you smartly for any goal. Maryann Van Dyke (seated) wears an Alex Colman cowl-neck blouson and garbardine slacks. Candy Zeile models a Pant-her three-piece spice-tweed suit with coordinating turtleneck sweater.

Gentle, soft spell feminine



LET THE MEADOW Club Pro Shop in Rolling Meadows take you to court in style with a tennis ensemble like this from Tail, Inc. Jean McKenna shows off her form in the poly/cotton tan and brown shorts with elasticized belt, matching zipper-front jacket and shirt. Coordinate pants and skirt also are available.

Don't look for man tailoring for milady this winter. Though suits and separates abound, they are styled with gentle lines that spell femininity.

Jackets are round shouldered and nipped at the waist in soft fabrics like wool and corduroy. Pants are pleated with a generous fit through the hips that narrows to a peg leg. Skirts are pleated, tucked, gathered — in other words, never severely straight or gypsy full. Blouses have the gentle touch — with big sleeves, rounded collars or necklines, tie neck. They're further softened by noncrisp fabrics that move and bend with the body.

Femininity is back. Women are equal to men — but certainly not the same, as this season's fashions reveal.

THE BOUTIQUE classes at Stretch and Sew in Arlington Heights will teach you the fast and easy way to holiday wear. Connie Gray made this forest green gown of light-weight fabric in one hour. It also can be worn with the ruffle in back. The white imitation-fur jacket can be thrown in the washer.

THE MIX AND matchables modeled here by Tommie Scalzitti are from Sharon's Shop in the Evergreen Plaza, Arlington Heights. The polyester tweed blazer and plaid pants are highlighted by a long-sleeve tie-blouse in tomato red. The coordinated sportswear in large women's sizes can be alternated with plaid vest, tweed pants or tweed over-blouse.

Thinking of You at Fashions at Large

I'm thinking of you

Looking glamorous for the coming holidays is for every woman, and those with a fuller figure are no exception.

At Fashions at Large we make it easier for the shopper who's looking for full-figure fashions because we carry only large-size clothing. And the selection for this season will really get you in the spirit.

Long skirts in fashionable plaids with matching jackets are only one of the party styles. For relaxed entertaining, you'll find a big assortment of party pants and tunic tops. If you prefer the peasant look of soft and ruffled femininity, you'll find it in muted prints and colors. Browns and beiges, blacks and whites predominate this winter season, but mulberry — a rich new hue — is popular, too.

If you haven't visited either of our two locations before, you're in for a new experience. Owner Dorothy Robbins caters only to the large woman because she understands her needs. "Because of me, I'm thinking of you," Dorothy says. When you see Fashions at Large, you'll know you — and women like you — are at the heart of Dorothy's philosophy.

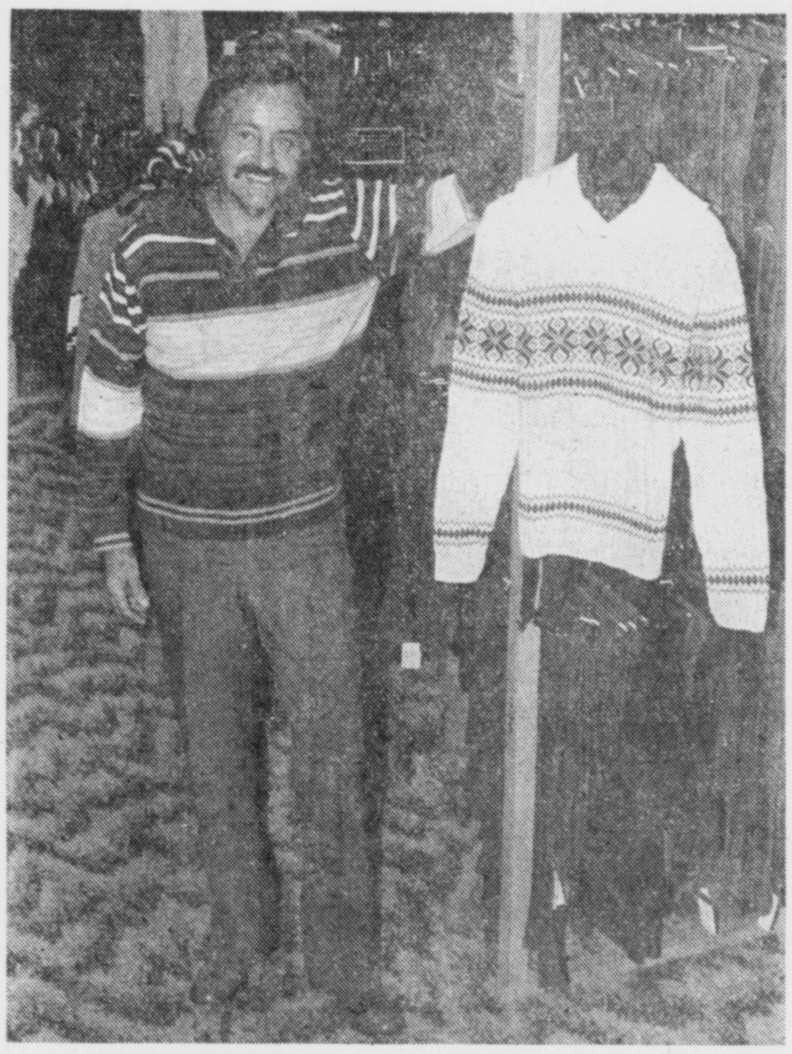
TRY SQUARE DANCING this winter for fun and exercise and let the House of Western Fashion in the Countryside Court, Mount Prospect, authenticate your attire. Hollie and Ken Cornelius know the "do-si-do" and dress for it. Bucks call squares in Ultressa fabric plaid snap-shirt, white scarf tie with tie slide, western slacks and two-tone boots. For Does, it's a polyester hot-pink, fitted midriff circle-skirt with nylon organdy petticoat. The white square dance shoe has a special sole for dancing.



MAKE AN IMPRESSION this season in fashions from Images Men's Wear in the Plaza de las Flores, Schaumburg. Jim Roti displays the Cobb Hill and Milwaukee Knit acrylic sweaters available in their full line of sportswear.

SITTIN' PRETTY in fashions from the Orange Peel in Mount Prospect is Karen Sarich. The pants, striped sweater and rabbit sweater-coat form the perfect trio for brisk weather.

TODAY'S HAIR demands elevation for fullness and easy care. Kathy Shoup's geometric wedge can be cut at many different lengths, while Don Geerdes' well-accepted business man's look is evenly layered and cut to work with any hair type. Both hairstyles are by Today's Hair in the Plaza de las Flores, Schaumburg.

The DOT Slim Elegant Electronic

$30.00

A Unique Concept in Timepieces

The Dot is a new achievement in electronic watches. So slender is the Dot that its profile establishes a new standard in timepiece workmanship. The most advanced solid state technology ever created for an electronic watch is what the remarkable dot offers. Note that there is not a single protruding button to frustrate the inspired design of the watch itself. The Dot truly is craftsmanship in the finest electronic tradition. We urge you to try it for 10 days at our expense. A distinctive technology to activate the six function wizardry of the Dot a mere slight touch of your finger lights up the large LED numerals. The circuitry of the Dot is so unique that you need only touch the gold Dot on the perimeter of the watch face to complete the circuit and illuminate the dial.

"THE BATHER" may feel the bite of winter weather but Barb Bauske (left) and Joanne Currer will be snug as "bugs in a rug" with warm wraps from Spiegler's in Des Plaines. The Russel Taylor "Mus-Kat" carcoat with simulated leather belt and trim is light-weight and water repellent. The natural colored midi-length wool coat has a mock front that offers double protection against the cold and is an Arthur Jay creation.

Designer to conduct pants-fitting seminar

Pants have become basic to every woman's wardrobe and will never be out of style, according to sewing expert Erma Hall.

"Pants must go over, under, around and through," look good standing, yet be comfortable when sitting." That's a large order, admits Mrs. Hall, but "easy as flipping a flap-jack, once you know how."

Erma Hall, fashion sewing consultant, attended Washington University School of Fashion Design in St. Louis, Mo., and has been a custom designer, fashion columnist and sewing instructor.

Nationally known for her successful "Perfect-Fit Pants Seminars," she is an acknowledged genius on pattern alterations and fitting problems. She is currently concentrating on pants because fitting pants properly presents the greatest challenge to anyone who sews.

Mrs. Hall will be at The Sewing Basket in the Plaza Verde Center, Buffalo Grove, Friday at 7 p.m. for pants-fitting and at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. for dress design. She will conduct another pants session Saturday at 10 a.m. and at 2 p.m. for dresses.

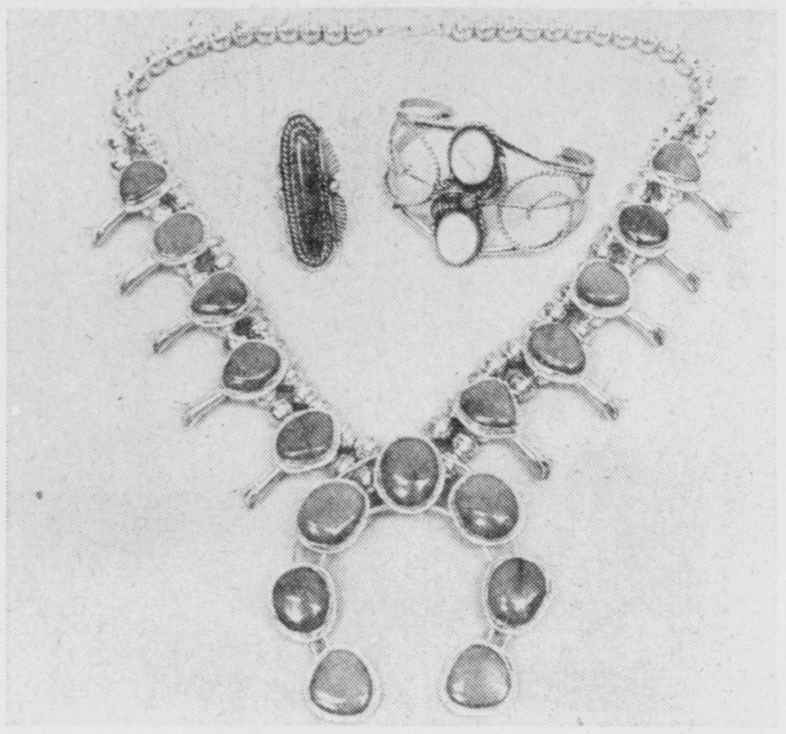
LOOKING TO THE FUTURE with winter fashions from Just for Kids in the Countryside Court, Mount Prospect, are Melani and Christian Seils. Melani's Polly Flinders dress has leg o' mutton sleeves, gobs of lace ric-rac and embroidered ribbon trim, in cream and chestnut brown. Christian sports a beige "Little World" knit suit with contrasting stripes.

TURQUOISE IS STRIKING against the heaviness of winter clothing and Turquoise traders on Rand Rd. in Mount Prospect can supply you with all you desire. These three pieces — squash-blossom necklace, ring and bracelet — are only a few of the original creations available.



VERSATILITY is of the highest consideration when developing a winter wardrobe. This dressy, rose-color jumpsuit in polyester gabardine with embroidered top, drawstring waist and spaghetti strap is after five attire. Add the jacket, as worn by Amy Mink, and it becomes suitable for daywear. The ensemble can be purchased at the newly-opened Antique 'n Boutique at 11 W. Irving Park Rd. in Roselle.

Help for Your Hair is Here

If you spent all summer in the sun and the pool, your hair may need help. First of all a good shaping is essential. Next choose a gentle shampoo, and condition your hair after every washing. Before blow drying or curling use a styling lotion. This will give your hair body as well as protect it from the heat of dryers, hot curlers and curling iron. With a consultation from Vito Anthony Hair Salon in Arlington Heights, your hair can have that healthy, sophisticated look for today's fashions. It's something you're always wearing, so if your hair doesn't look good the rest just doesn't matter. For appointment call 398-5146.

Fit-pitching Figueroa returns to club

by FRED McMANE

NEW YORK — New York Yankee pitcher Ed Figueroa, who was all set to fly home to Puerto Rico after Manager Billy Martin decided to pitch Mike Torrez instead of him in the sixth game of the World Series, had a sudden change of heart Monday and said he'll be at Yankee Stadium for tonight's contest with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Martin had announced to the news media after Sunday's 10-4 loss to the Dodgers that Figueroa would pitch the sixth game. But the Yankees' skipper changed his mind after conferring with trainer Gene Monahan and named Torrez as his starter.

Figueroa then asked Martin if he could leave the club, Martin granted permission and the pitcher made plans to return to Puerto Rico.

"I ASKED BILLY if I could go home and he said go ahead," Figueroa said when reached at his Fort Lee, N.J. apartment.

"Then I thought about it and decided it would be a bad move on my part. It wouldn't look good and even though I don't want to play for the Yanks next year, I want to be part of the club until the Series is over."

Figueroa was at Yankee Stadium Monday but denied that Yankee officials were responsible for his change in plans.

"Nobody called me because there was nothing to it," he said. "Billy had given me permission to leave and I was going until I decided it would be a wrong move."

Figueroa has been doing a slow burn throughout the Series and Martin repeatedly has passed over him to name other pitchers. Figueroa tied with Ron Guidry as the second biggest winner on the Yankee staff this season.

THE LATEST YANKEE blowup came after Martin first named Figueroa to start the sixth game and then substituted Torrez to go against Burt Hooton. Guidry and Tommy John are set to start Wednesday's seventh game if it is necessary.

The usually excitable Martin, who said pitching coach Art Fowler had been dispatched to try and head off Figueroa and persuade him to rejoin the club, was surprisingly calm in discussing Figueroa's walkout.

"The guy just feels bad," Martin said.

"He probably wanted to pitch. He's a proud Puerto Rican and I love the guy for wanting to pitch. I can understand how he feels."

Figueroa didn't learn that he was being passed over until Torrez told him as they boarded the plane back to New York. He fumed all the way back and now says he has joined the growing number of Yankees who want to go elsewhere next season.

"NEXT YEAR I want to get out of here," he said. "I want to go someplace where people have confidence in me. He (Martin) has been lying to me for two years.

"Billy told me to get ready on Friday. He told me the same thing Saturday and Sunday. So I got my finger ready. Sunday I was better. I felt no pain. I don't like being lied to. In California, I was with a last-place ball club and pitched every fourth day and I was 16-13. They never lied to me. I pitched when they said I would pitch."

What was the reason for the change? It seems Figueroa is not completely recovered from the nerve damage on his right index finger, which has kept him out of the Series so far. Figueroa, distraught over the latest developments, refused to talk to reporters after Sunday's game.

Bears consider retreating 18 inches

'Block that kick' hardly cheering

by BOB GALLAS

Last season, the Minnesota Vikings blocked 16 kicks, an average of one a game, so the Bears expected a tremendous rush on extra point and field goal attempts Sunday.

The Vikings beat their average of last year and blocked two Bear kicks, a field goal and extra point, eiher one of which would have allowed Chicago to win in regulation play, rather than lose in sudden death overtime, 22-16.

Monday, the question was how do the Vikings do it?

BEAR COACH Jack Pardee looked at films of the game and said linebacker Matt Blair, who blocked an extra point and was in on the block of the field goal with Alan Page, often uses his linemen, pushing off and up on their shoulders, to get the tremendous height that allows him to block a kick.

Such a technique is illegal in the NFL, but Pardee wasn't as upset as he might have been.

"Yes, he (Blair) was using his left hand to spring up off the shoulder pads of teammates," Pardee admitted Monday after watching a film version of Sunday's loss. "He did it on some but not on the ones they blocked."

Though the hand spring helps the 6-5½ Blair to reach new altitudes, the Vikings' six-man rush is also a big factor.

"THEY GET TREMENDOUS penetration and then their tall guys jump like hell," Pardee said.

Pardee said the Bears will be experimenting this week with moving back some on their kicks, which would give Bob Thomas' kicks more height by the time they reach the line. But he added that there was much more involved than just moving back.

Right now, the Bears set the ball back 7½ yards from the line of scrimmage on kicks. The distance they'll move back will be "inches," Pardee said.

"You're vulnerable to the outside (rush) when you move back," said Pardee. "and if you go back 18 inches, it changes the snap of the ball. The laces come to the holder in the wrong position."

PARDEE SAID THE Bears will use stopwatches in practice this week to find out how long it takes for the outside rush to get in position to block a kick if the holder moves back 18 inches. They also will measure to determine whether two yards penetration plus a leap by a middle lineman can block a kick from eight yards deep.

If that seems like a lot of concern over a little kick, remember that the last three games the Vikings and Bears have played against each other have been decided by a kick, blocked kick that is.

In the first meeting between the two teams last year, Bob Thomas missed one extra point and had another blocked by Blair. The Bears lost, 20-19.

The Bears won the rematch 14-13, another one-point spread, although there were no blocked kicks. Again this year, the outcome was so close it wasn't decided until overtime. And if the Bears had made that blocked extra point or field goal, there would have been no overtime and Chicago would have won.

Pardee placed no blame with his kicker, Bob Thomas.

"Sidewinder (soccer style) kickers usually don't get much height as quick, but as sidewinders go, Bob does very well," Pardee said.

BEARFACTS: Bears' owner George Halas presented Chicago Supt. of Schools Joseph Hannon with a $56,000 check Monday. . . That's the take from the Bears intrasquad exhibition in August for the benefit of Chicago Public Schools athletics . . . Hannon announced the scholarship in Halas' name will be awarded annually to the top "scholar-athlete" in the Prep Bowl, the annual contest in Soldier Field which pits the winner of the Public League against the Catholic League champ . . .

The Bears also announced a new season attendance record of 401,513 for their seven home games this year, eclipsing the old mark of 401,213 set last year . . . All Bears games this season are sellouts, with Soldier Field capacity at 57,359.

Stillwell lost to Bears for season

The Bears' defensive line, already thin in numbers, suffered another blow Monday when defensive tackle Roger Stillwell underwent surgery to repair damage to his left knee, injured in Sunday's loss to the Vikings.

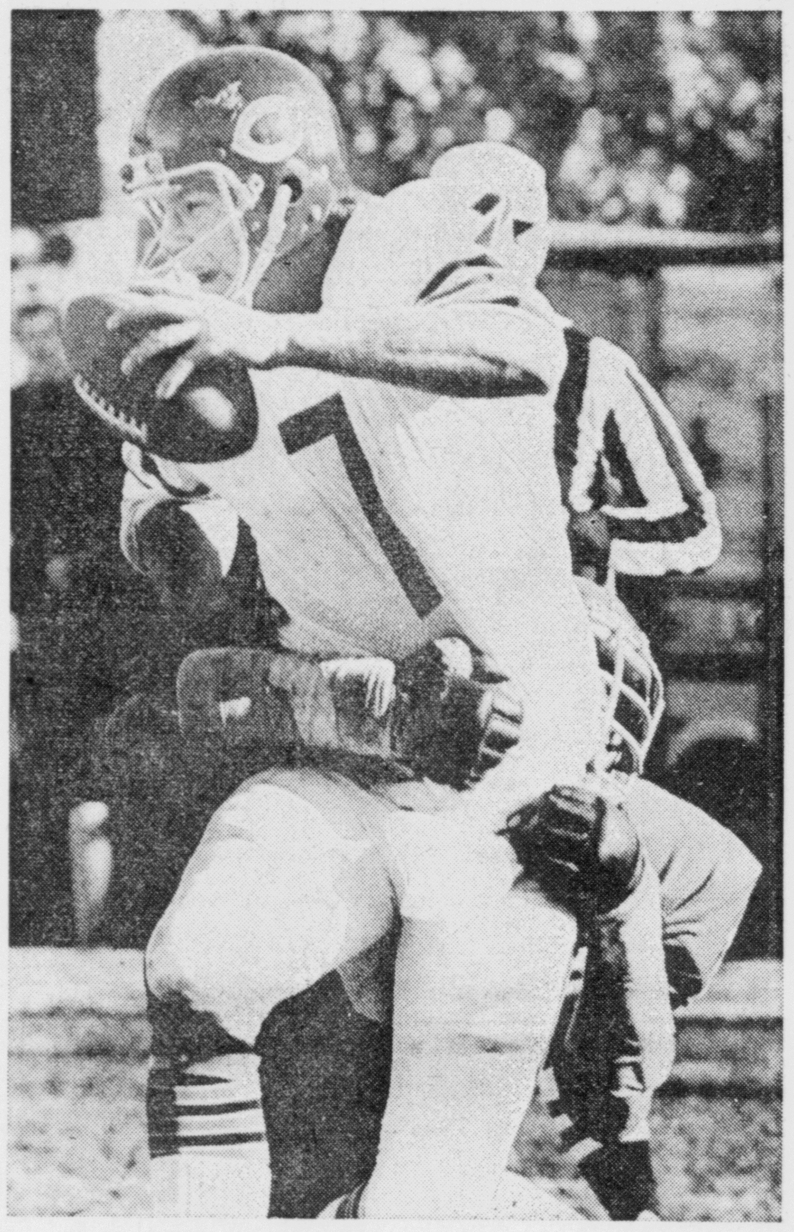
Stillwell suffered a torn medial ligament and will wear a cast for six weeks. He is expected to miss the remainder of the season.

Stillwell was listed as a backup to Jim Osborne at left defensive tackle but had played extensively this season as the Bears have been shuttling their defensive linemen.

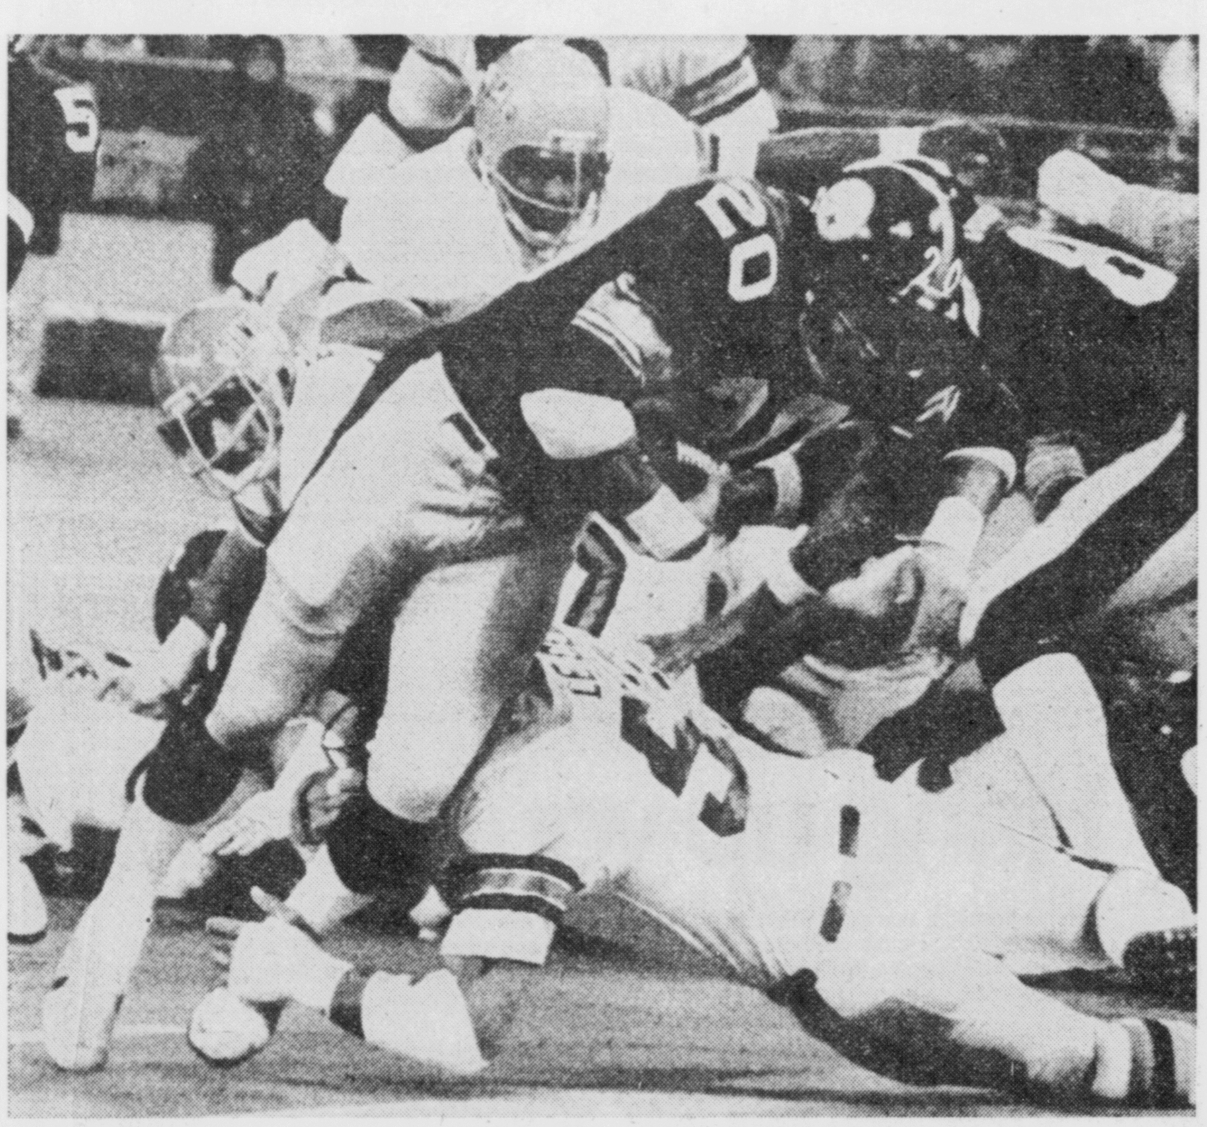
The Bears were unable to indicate immediately whether another defensive lineman would be sought to fill Stillman's place on the roster.

There was a chance, coach Jack Pardee indicated, that the team would reactivate running back Mike Adamle, who plays on the special teams as well. Adamle, cut from the roster the week before the regular season began, has been working out periodically with the team.

Starting defensive end Jerry Meyers also suffered a knee injury Sunday but it is not believed to be serious, possibly a hyperextension. Meyers underwent treatment Monday but it is not known yet whether he'll be able to play Sunday when the Bears host the Falcons.



NOWHERE TO GO. Bears quarterback Bob Avellini has nowhere to go but down in the fourth quarter of Sunday's Bear loss in Minnesota, as Carl Eller hauls him down from behind for a 12-yard sack.



ROCKY RUNS AGAIN. Pittsburgh's Rocky Bleier slips away from Cincinnati tackler Jim LeClair as he crosses the goal line for one of his two touchdowns Monday night. The Steelers won 20-14 after nearly squandering a secure 13-point lead in the final two minutes when time ran out on the Bengals at the Pittsburgh 10-yard line.

Two Bleier touchdowns rivet Steeler victory

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Rocky Blier ran for two touchdowns and rookie Sidney Thornton ran for another Monday night to lead the Pittsburgh Steelers to 20-14 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals in a nationally televised game between the AFC Central Division rivals.

The victory gave the Steelers a 3-2 record, moving them into a three-way tie for first place in the four-team devision with Cleveland and Houston. Cincinnati, which has never won in Three Rivers Stadium in eight tries, fell to 2-3.

Bleier scored on plunges of one and two yards following Cincinnati turnovers. Thornton also scored on a 1-yard plunge, one play after Terry Bradshaw, playing with a half-cast on his broken left wrist, completed a 40-yard pass to Bennie Cunningham to put the Steelers on the Cincinnati one.

ROY GERELA kicked two extra points but missed another and was short and wide left on a 43-yard field goal attempt.

The Bengals scored their first touchdown just before halftime on a 4-yard run by offensive lineman Glenn Bujnoch after a lateral from backup quarterback John Reaves, who entered the game after Ken Anderson was sidelined for the night with a knee injury.

Cincinnati scored again with 1:26 left in the game when linebacker Ray Phillips blocked a Bobby Walden punt and Reggie Williams fell on the ball in the end zone.

After the Bengals' second touchdown, they recovered an onsides kick and drove deep into Steelers' territory. Isaac Curtis dropped a pass in the end zone with 11 seconds remaining and then caught another pass and carried it to the eight but time ran out.

Both teams were hampered by injuries to key offensive players, causing a sloppily played game. Altogether the Steelers lost three fumbles plus the blocked punt, while the Bengals turned the ball over five times via a fumble and interceptions of one Anderson pass and three Reaves passes. There were also numerous penalties called on both teams.

The interception of Anderson's pass by Jack Ham led to the Steelers' first TD early in the second quarter. The Steeler offense took over at the Cincinnati 29 and scored on Bleier's 1-yard plunge seven plays later.

3 coaches added to '78 Cub staff

Cookie Rojas, Joey Amalfitano and Mike Roark will join two returning coaches, Harry "P-Nuts" Lowrey and Jack Bloomfield, on the Chicago Cubs' 1978 coaching staff, the team announced Monday.

Rojas, 38, an infielder, recently retired after 16 years in the majors. He played most recently with the Kansas City Royals, after playing with the Philadelphia Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds.

Amalfitano, 43, an outfielder, played 10 years in the major leagues, including a stint with the Cubs from 1964 to 1967. He also coached for the Cubs in 1967.

Roark, 46, will be the Cubs' new pitching coach. The former Detroit Tigers' catcher had served as the Cubs' minor league pitching instructor.

Lemon voted AL Manager of Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Lemon's first thought when he learned he had been elected the American League's Manager of the Year was to say "thanks" and his second was to praise Earl Weaver.

The White Sox manager was chosen for the honor by an 11-7 vote over the Baltimore Orioles' pilot in the UPI's annual post-season survey. The White Sox finished third in the Western Division while the Orioles tied the Boston Red Sox for second place in the Eastern Division.

"It's a great honor to win this year, especially in view of the job Weaver did in Baltimore," said Lemon. "He did a really fine job.

"The Orioles looked like they didn't have a chance to be contenders in spring training," Lemon pointed out. "But Earl used a combination of young players and veterans to stay in the race right down to the end."

The White Sox bowed out of contention in September and wound up 12 games behind the first-place Kansas City Royals in the Western Division but were contenders for 4½ months and in first place as late as Aug. 14. The season was both an artistic and financial success for the White Sox, who had finished sixth and drawn a home attendance of only 914,945 in 1976 under Manager Paul Richards.

Cleveland to pose Bulls first challenge

by DON FRISKE

Although the late surge by the Chicago Bulls last year was fun and exciting, it also was hectic. They found themselves in a frantic chase for a playoff spot, a task they accomplished by winning 20 of their last 24 games.

To avoid such an all-or-nothing situation again this season, the challenge begins tonight when the Bulls open their 1977-78 campaign in Cleveland against the Cavaliers.

If the Bulls can get off to a solid start and then maintain some balance as the season heads into its final stages, they should be able to close the season at a more comfortable pace.

LAST YEAR, they lost 14 of their first 16 games, including 13 in a row. The only direction to go was the opposite, and they did that by having the best winning percentage of any NBA team during the second half of the season.

But the Bulls fell back into their losing ways during the preseason schedule that ended Friday night. Even though they beat the Milwaukee Bucks, 107-101, it gave them a 2-6 record for exhibition contests, the worst mark in the team's 12-year history.

"We just didn't move on offense or defense," said Ed Badger. "Plus

How to scout Stevens Pt.

STEVENS POINT, Wis. (UPI) — A pudgy fellow last week had just about everyone believing he was Kermit Alexander, a former All-Pro defensive back for the San Francisco 49ers in town to scout the Wisconsin-Stevens Point football team.

While officials and some influential residents wined and dined him, a young sports reporter couldn't understand why the scout didn't attend football practice or meet the coaches.

The reporter talked to the police, the police talked to the man and he admitted he wasn't Alexander — not even a scout; just a guy from New Jersey passing through town.

POLICE DID NOT identify the man. In fact, a spokesman said the man, who was all but presented a key to the city, will probably not even face charges.

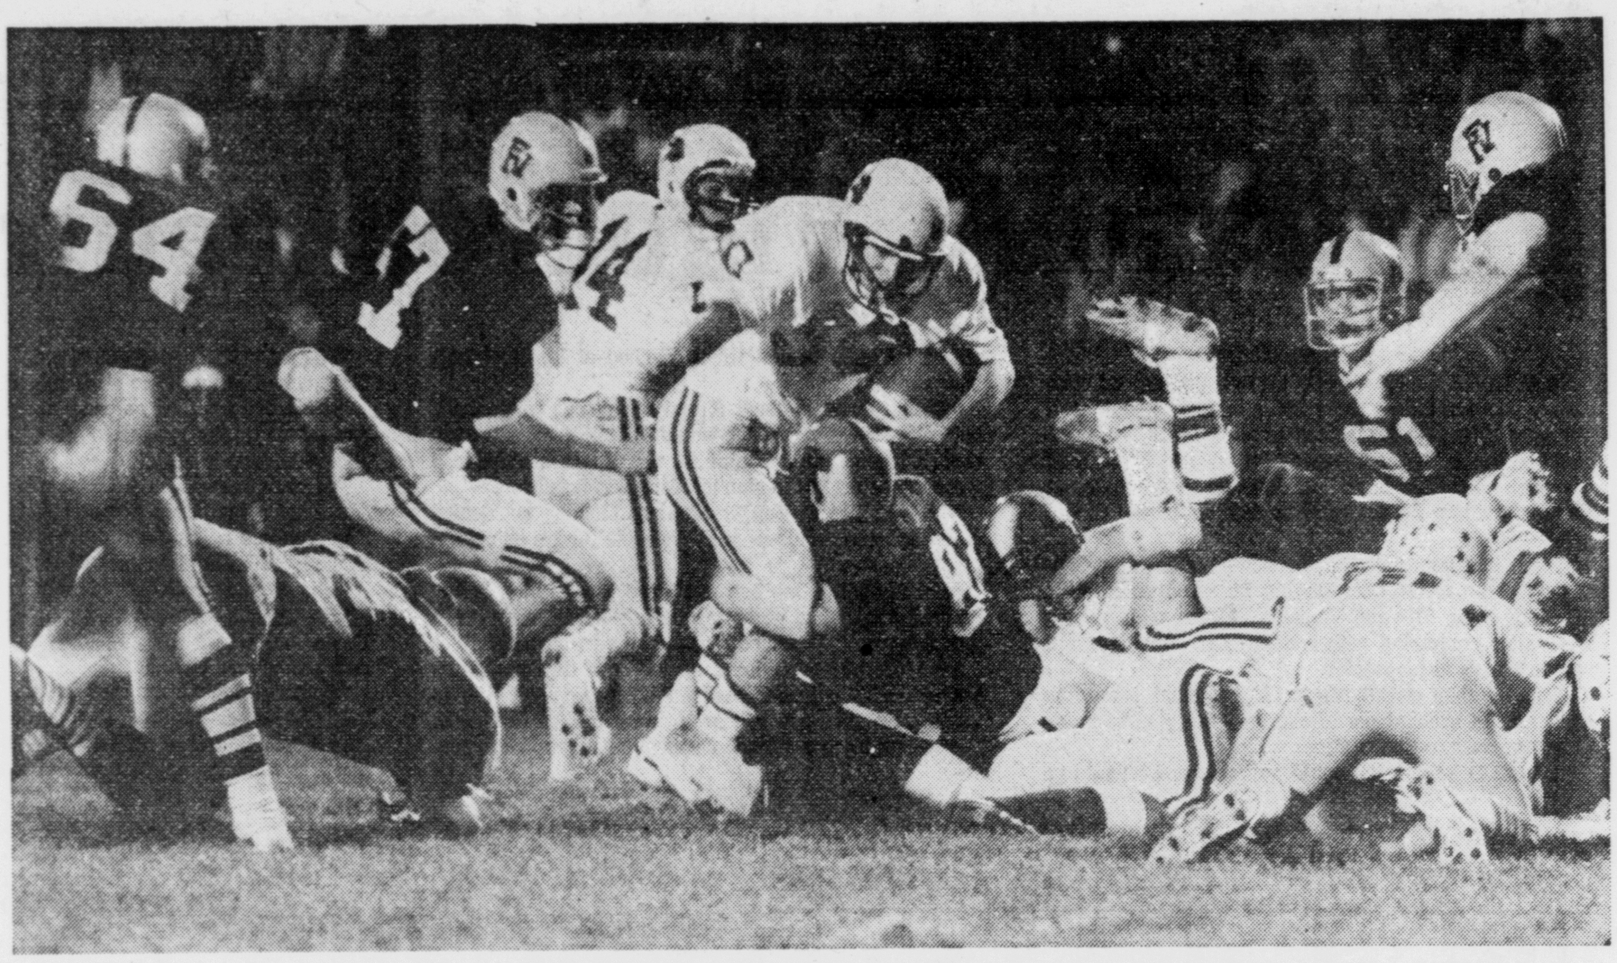
"No one has come forward to admit that they were fooled," a policeman said. He said the fellow apparently was in Green Bay recently and posed as a scout for the 49ers.

At one point last week, he made a commitment to be a guest on a local radio station during the half of the Stevens Point-Oshkosh football game Saturday at Oshkosh. It all began Monday when he visited a few bars.

The reporters started looking for the real Kermit Alexander when the man said he planned to scout the Wisconsin Badgers in Madison. Coach John Jardine had closed the practice to prepare the team for the Michigan game.

On Friday, the reporter found the real Alexander, who played for the 49ers from 1963-69.

"I've never been in Stevens Point," Alexander said 'Is it anywhere near Green Bay? I've been there."



UP THE MIDDLE. Fremd's Brian Cromie has his legs tied up by Forest View's Joe Forssander as the Viking running back tries to pick up yardage. Cromie was able to break through the wall of Falcon tacklers enough times to finish with 50 yards as Fremd won, 14-10.

Rochelle victory knocks Geneseo from top spot

Joel Colbert's Rochelle football team won the big game and the glory of victory was more welcome than a climb in the state ratings.

Rochelle defeated Geneseo Darnall 7-0 last week, ending Darnall's winning streak at 18 games and knocking the team out of the No. 1 ranking in Class 1A-2A-3A selected for United Press International by a board of 12 coaches. Metamora took over the No. 1 spot with Rochelle No. 2.

St. Laurence retained the top rung in 4A-5A, by extending its winning streak to 19 games.

"SINCE GENESEO beat us last year, this was a good chance to get even," Colbert said. "We held them to 55 yards rushing and 16 passing and got about 250 rushing and 32 passing ourselves. The closest they came to our goal was when they intercepted a pass on our 16 and they didn't get any closer.

"We did it without our best quarterback, too," Colbert said. "Jerry Adamski was hurt in the first period and Mike McCulloch had to finish. But we drove 65 yards for the touchdown and Greg Weber ran over from the one."

Despite a victory over the defending state champion, neither Colbert nor his players were looking forward to a crown for themselves. "The people in town probably do more talking than we do," Colbert said. "They think we can get down there. We've still got to play Spring Valley Hall and Princeton, and we're not looking beyond them.

"This team is quicker than the 1975 team which went to the quarterfinals in the playoffs, but it's not very big. We're just quicker over-all with more backfield speed. Our halfbacks are only 145 and 150 pounds, Bruce Miller and Jeff Cardot.

"But we played a great game Friday night. Geneseo outweighed us 14 pounds per man, but there were 6,000 fans in the stands and they helped the boys to play."

EXCELLENCE IS not new for Colbert's teams. "We've lost four games in the last two and a half years," he said, "and all four of them to teams like Geneseo and Wheaton-Warrenville. In 1970 Geneseo had a 54-game winning streak, the longest in the state, and Hall beat them in 1971 and we beat them the next week."

Geneseo dropped to No. 6 in the ratings and Mascoutah, Charleston and Mount Carmel each moved up one notch behind Rochelle. Concord Triopia remained No. 7, Arcola and Lisle Benet evchanged positions, Arcola moving to No. 8 and Lisle to 9, and Stockton remained No. 10.

Class 1A-2A-3A

1.	Metamora 6-0 3A 8	115
2.	Rochelle 6-0 5A 3	99
3.	Mascoutah 6-0 3A	78

8.	Elgin 6-0 5A	37
9.	Evanston 6-0 5A	22
10.	Danville 6-0 5A	14
10.	Barrington 6-0 5A	14

Other schools with 10 or more points: Downers Grove North.

In 4A-5A, Deerfield and East Leyden continued to trail St. Laurence, Glenbard West moved from No. 5 to No. 4 with Joliet Catholic, the top 4A school, dropping one notch to No. 5.

Elgin slipped from No. 6 to No. 8 and Peoria Manual and Brother Rice each moved up one position to No. 6 and No. 7. Evanston climbed from No. 10 to No. 9 and two newcomers, Danville and Barrington, moved into a tie for No. 10. St. Rita and Downers Grove North dropped out.

Holtzman riddle not elementary

Jim Murray

Everyone loves a good mystery, and the New York Yankees' locker room has turned up one Agatha Christie might envy.

I mean, to the great questions of the ages — "Who killed Cock Robin?" "What ever happened to Baby Jane?" "Who is Sylvia, what is she?" — you can add, "What ever became of Ken Holtzman?" Hercule Poirot couldn't find him. Sherlock Holmes would need the needle.

Judge Crater is practically an everyday drop-in compared to him.

WHEN LAST seen, Ken Holtzman was a fine left-handed pitcher who had thrown two no-hitters in his career. He pitched the Oakland A's to five division championships, three pennants and three world championships in his time. So, you can see he's hardly the kind of guy you could lose track of like a Skid Row bum. So far as anyone knows, he's not in trouble with the law.

The Mysterious Disappearance of Kenneth Dale Holtzman did not come after he left the house one day and was last seen getting in a cab. As far as investigators can tell, he did not go prospecting in the mountains of the West with a burro.

It can't be that he's alive and well and living in Argentina. It must be he's not even around. If his whereabouts were known, if he were even reachable by phone the Yankees would use him. I mean, wouldn't they?!

NO, IT must be they're turning over every stone looking for him. They have private eyes scanning the bus departures and arrivals. They've notified the FBI. Surely, they're doing all they can to track him down. Right?

We know he's missing because he's not in any of his old haunts — like the pitcher's mound. That's where he'd be if anyone could find him.

It's a coverup. The Yankees deny he's missing but a guy who won 19, 21, 19 and 18 games only a couple of years ago, who won four out of the five World Series games he pitched in, would be out there starting World Series games if they could get a line on him.

THE PLOT thickens when you consider the Yankees traded away a whole bunch of ballplayers for him and then signed him to a five-year contract at big bucks in June of 1976. Right there, he began to fade from sight.

Oh, he would turn up once in a while. If you knew where to look. Try games the Yankees were losing 19-3 and you might catch a glimpse of Ken Holtzman. But then he would disappear like a blip off a radar screen for long periods. You couldn't find him with the Palomar telescope.

The Yankee manager, Billy Martin, preserved the fiction that he had not disappeared by coming out periodically to say Kenny just wasn't feeling well. You know, how you used to say that when the old man was drunk. But Ken doesn't drink and you could check hospitals from coast to coast without turning him up as a patient.

You take the second game of the World Series. A lot of journalists who thought they might be on the scent of a big story demanded to know of Billy Martin why Ken Holtzman didn't make a ninth-inning appearance instead of the overworked Sparky Lyle. "He had a stiff neck," Billy said with a perfectly straight face.

NOW, THE question becomes, Did Ken Holtzman know he had a stiff neck before Billy told him?

Maybe Billy just doesn't want people to know one of his pitchers is missing. You know, the way they do in war when they don't want the enemy to know the ball-bearing plant was wiped out.

Can't you see where Edgar Wallace would love this one? Or A. Conan Doyle. It's got everything. Mickey Spillane might fictionalize it. Or Raymond Chandler.

This is the second-straight World Series Ken Holtzman has disappeared from. Since the Yankees lost four in a row in last year's, you know they'd throw anyone in there if they thought it would help.

SO IT CAN'T be that Holtzman is available. He must be locked in a mountain cabin bound and gagged some place. Someone's got a gun at his head.

The man beat both the Dodgers and the Reds in the last two World Series he pitched in. You got to think the Yankees are combing the countryside for him.

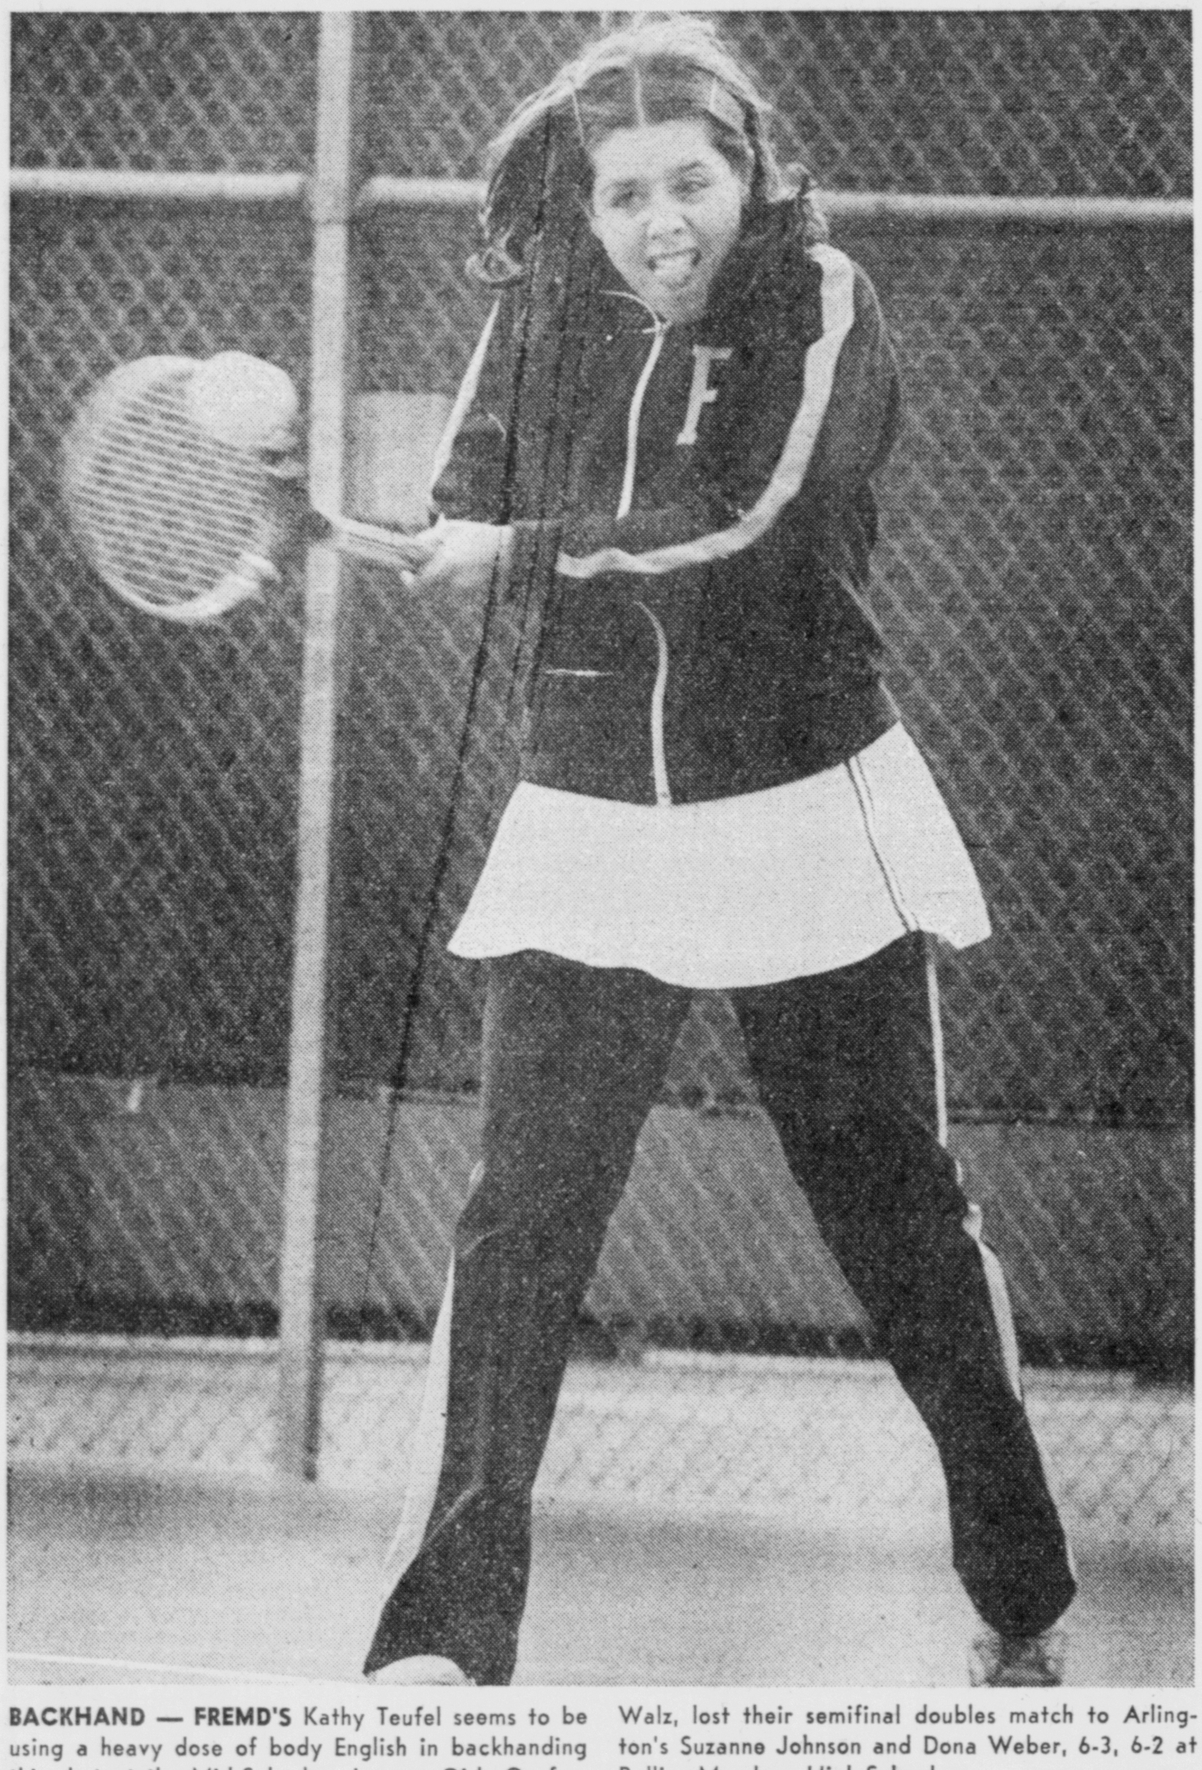
But Billy Martin is a cute one. You'll never get it out of him that Holtzman has vanished. Would Holtzman figure in his starting rotation? Someone wanted to know the other night after the Yankees lost and their pitchers allowed (count'em) four home runs. "No," said Billy coolly. "He doesn't figure in my starting rotation and I don't see any reason to put him in there."

Well, he's got kind of gray eyes, he's 6 feet 2, he dresses well. He'll probably eat with his left hand and, if you find him, ask him to throw a curveball. If it's a strike on the outside corner of the plate, that's Holtzman, all right.

CONTACT THE nearest Yankee office. Or wire George Steinbrenner, the owner, collect. He must be baffled, too.

I don't know whether I'd try to contact Billy Martin. He might hang up on you. He gets downright testy at times. Bad temper. And watch out for the left hook.

Simon and Garfunkel were on the wrong track. Never mind "Where have you gone, Joe DiMaggio?" It's "Where have you gone, Ken Holtzman?" A nation turns its lonely eyes to you.



BACKHAND — FREMD'S Kathy Teufel seems to be using a heavy dose of body English in backhanding this shot at the Mid-Suburban League Girls Conference Tennis Meet. Kathy and her partner, Lisa Walz, lost their semifinal doubles match to Arlington's Suzanne Johnson and Dona Weber, 6-3, 6-2 at Rolling Meadows High School.

5 area golf teams in sectional meets

Five area golf teams will participate in sectional golf meets today with the hope of qualifying for this weekend's state tournament.

Palatine, Fremd and Conant, three Mid-Suburban League teams that finished in the top spots at the Lake Park district Thursday, will compete in the East Leyden sectional at White Pines Golf Course in Bensenville.

Barrington and Hersey ended up first and second in the Huskie-hosted district to advance to the Lake Forest sectional, which begins at 9 a.m. today at Lake Bluff Golf Course.

Forest View's Joe Carcerano and Elk Grove's Tim Callard will play on an individual basis at the East Leyden tourney. Maine West's Mike Franklin and Prospect's Steve Kurka will do the same at Lake Bluff.

Michigan holds lead in UPI poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — Michigan and Texas remain No. 1 and No. 2 respectively in UPI's Top 20 ratings after the sixth week of college football action, but Colorado and Nebraska took long steps backward.

Top-rated Michigan solidified its No. 1 spot by garnering 38 of a possible 42 first-place votes after a 56-0 whipping of Wisconsin, which was 15th-ranked at the time. Texas received the other four first-place votes after pulling out a tough 13-9 victory on the road against eighth-ranked Arkansas.

Colorado, a strong third last week, blew a 17-3 lead against a weak Kansas team and settled for a 17-17 tie, dropping to seventh position. Quarterback Jeff Knappel connected on all 17 of his first-half passes against the Jayhawks, but Colorado's offense eventually fizzled out.

ALABAMA SHIFTED into Colorado's vacant third slot with a 24-10 victory over Tennessee as quarterback Jeff Rutledge ran for two TD's and passed for a third.

Southern California moved from seventh to fourth with a 33-15 victory over Oregon as the Trojans bounced back from a tough loss to Alabama the week before. Rob Hertel threw two long scoring passes for Southern Cal.

Ohio State remained fifth with a 27-6 beating of Iowa behind quarterback Rod Gerald's two touchdown runs and Oklahoma is still No. 6 after squeaking past Missouri 21-17.

NEBRASKA, NINTH a week ago, dropped to 17th after a 24-21 loss to Iowa State as Dexter Green ran for 139 yards and a touchdown. Penn State moved up from 10th into Nebraska's ninth spot with a 31-24 victory over Syracuse. The Nittany Lions had to hold off a furious Syracuse comeback effort that almost overcame a 21 point deficit.

Notre Dame rounds out the Top 10 after a 24-0 blanking over Army.

The United Press International Board of Coaches top 20 teams after the sixth week of the college football season. With first-place votes and record in parentheses:

Team	Points
1. Michigan (38) (6-0)	416
2. Texas (4) (5-0)	378
3. Alabama (5-1)	291
4. Southern Cal (5-1)	258
5. Ohio St. (5-1)	256
6. Oklahoma (5-1)	230

MAJOR HELP — Los Angeles Dodger pitcher Don Sutton reads a good luck telegram from Lee and Farah Majors. The Dodgers will need all the luck they can get tonight when they meet the Yankees in the sixth game of the World Series. The Yanks, leading three games to two, can clinch the series with a win.

Assault charges confront Cosell

PHILADELPHIA — Philadelphia Daily News sports columnist Stan Hochman Monday accused ABC-TV sports commentator Howard Cosell of assaulting him aboard an airplane preparing to leave Los Angeles following Sunday's World Series. game.

Hochman charged Cosell with slapping him "four, maybe five times" Sunday night after the two exchanged sarcastic remarks.

A spokesman for the newspaper said Hochman "was exploring the possibility of a suit and criminal charges." Any action would have to be taken in California because that is where the alleged incident occurred.

Cosell called the incident "completely and utterly insane. It's crazy. It's a joke. I can't believe this would happen.

He said he saw Hochman, who "has had a great deal of fun at my expense over the years," boarding the plane. Cosell said: "Hi, Stan baby" and playfully chucked Hockman under the chin.

Yank manager says he'll return

NEW YORK — Whether he wins or loses this World Series, New York Yankee Manager Billy Martin expects to be back at the same job next year. Martin, who has come under fire frequently this year, said he expects to talk to George Steinbrenner, the Yankees' principal owner, and club president Gabe Paul as soon as as the series is over.

"But I'm not going to discuss anything like a new contract," said Martin in obvious reference to the jam he got himself in with his bosses last week when he told reporters he felt he should be given a raise for the job he's done this year. "I plan to sit down with George and Gabe and discuss the future of the club.

"It's been a tough season for all of us on this team," Martin continued. "I know we've got players who have expressed their unhappiness, but I think that will all change after we win Tuesday night.

UPI honors Notre Dame player

CHICAGO — Two years ago, Jerome Heavens carried the ball for the first time in a Notre Dame uniform and fumbled. Yet for the season, he gained 756 yards to lead the Fighting Irish in ground gaining. Last year, eight plays into the third game, he suffered an injury requiring surgery to his right knee and was out for the season.

Saturday, Heavens carried the ball 34 times, almost half the 70 rushes by the entire Notre Dame team, and became the first Irish back ever to gain 200 yards. Actually he gained 202 yards, but was thrown for a two yard loss on one play.

For his achievement in breaking a 29-year Notre Dame record established in 1948 when Emil "Red" Sitko, gained 186 yards in 24 carries, Heavens was named United Press International's Midwest Offensive Player of the Week.

Sports great Cal Hubbard dies

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Cal Hubbard, veteran major league umpire and the only man ever elected to both the professional football and baseball Halls of Fame, died Monday night. The 76-year-old Hubbard's son, Dr. Robert Hubbard of suburban Gulfport, reported his father died of cancer after a short illness.

Hubbard, a 6-foot-5, 250-pound tackle in an era when most lines averaged 200 pounds, played 10 years for the New York Giants, Green Bay Packers and Pittsburgh Steelers. He was elected in 1963 as a charter member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Hubbard, who began umpiring pickup baseball games at age 18, became a professional umpire in the spring of 1928 with the Piedmont League following his first season in pro football with the Giants. For 10 years, he played pro football and umpired baseball.

Cleveland to pose Bulls' first season challenge

there were a lot of injuries and the problem of trying to get the new people indoctrinated in our system."

The injuries included Scott May's sore knee, Mark Landsberger's sore foot, and Steve Sheppard's sore back. Veteran guard Norm Van Lier also missed three games with the flu.

FORWARD MICKEY Johnson has been the most consistent player for the Bulls during the exhibition schedule. He had 68 rebounds, second only to Artis Gilmore's 76, and he was third on the team in scoring with 110 points.

Wilbur Holland has 122 points followed by Gilmore's 111.

Badger made his final roster cut Monday night by releasing forward Cliff Pondexter. The move gave the Bulls a 12-man roster, which will be allowed until the final decision is made on the possibility of limiting NBA teams to 11 players.

Pondexter, who scored only 24 points in seven of the exhibition contests, was drafted by the Bulls from Long Beach State in 1974. In two seasons with Chicago, he totaled 690 points and 617 rebounds.

Rookie guard Rich Rhodes from Eastern Illinois was placed on the injured list for five games. He is still recovering from a broken jaw suffered during an exhibition-game brawl.

After their game with Cleveland, the Bulls will travel to Houston to battle the Rockets Wednesday night before returning to Chicago for their home opener Friday night against the Indiana Pacers.

Pick MSL's all-time greats

by KEITH REINHARD

Who's the best?

Was Conant's Jim McGraw a better ball carrier than Wheeling's Jack Bastable? Where do you fit in Palatine's Jim Popp, Forest View's Mike Pryor or Elk Grove's Tim Roberts?

How about quarterback? Is it possible to compare a Jeff Stewart with a Russ Zonca or a Stu White? Would Marty Friel have caught more passes if Phil Donahue was throwing to him or would Chris Andriano have been an even better receiver with Steve Brietbeil as a signal caller?

AND WHAT ABOUT linemen? Would you pick a Jerry Finis over a Craig Brinkman? Did Dan Selleck move them out any better than Tom Stonerock?

All of these fine athletes — as well as many more — have in common the fact that they starred on the gridirons of the Mid-Suburban League.

But who really was the best from the MSL's first 15 years? Over the next few weeks this writer will attempt to determine the all-time top MSL football team in the most democratic and diplomatic way possible — by putting it to a vote.

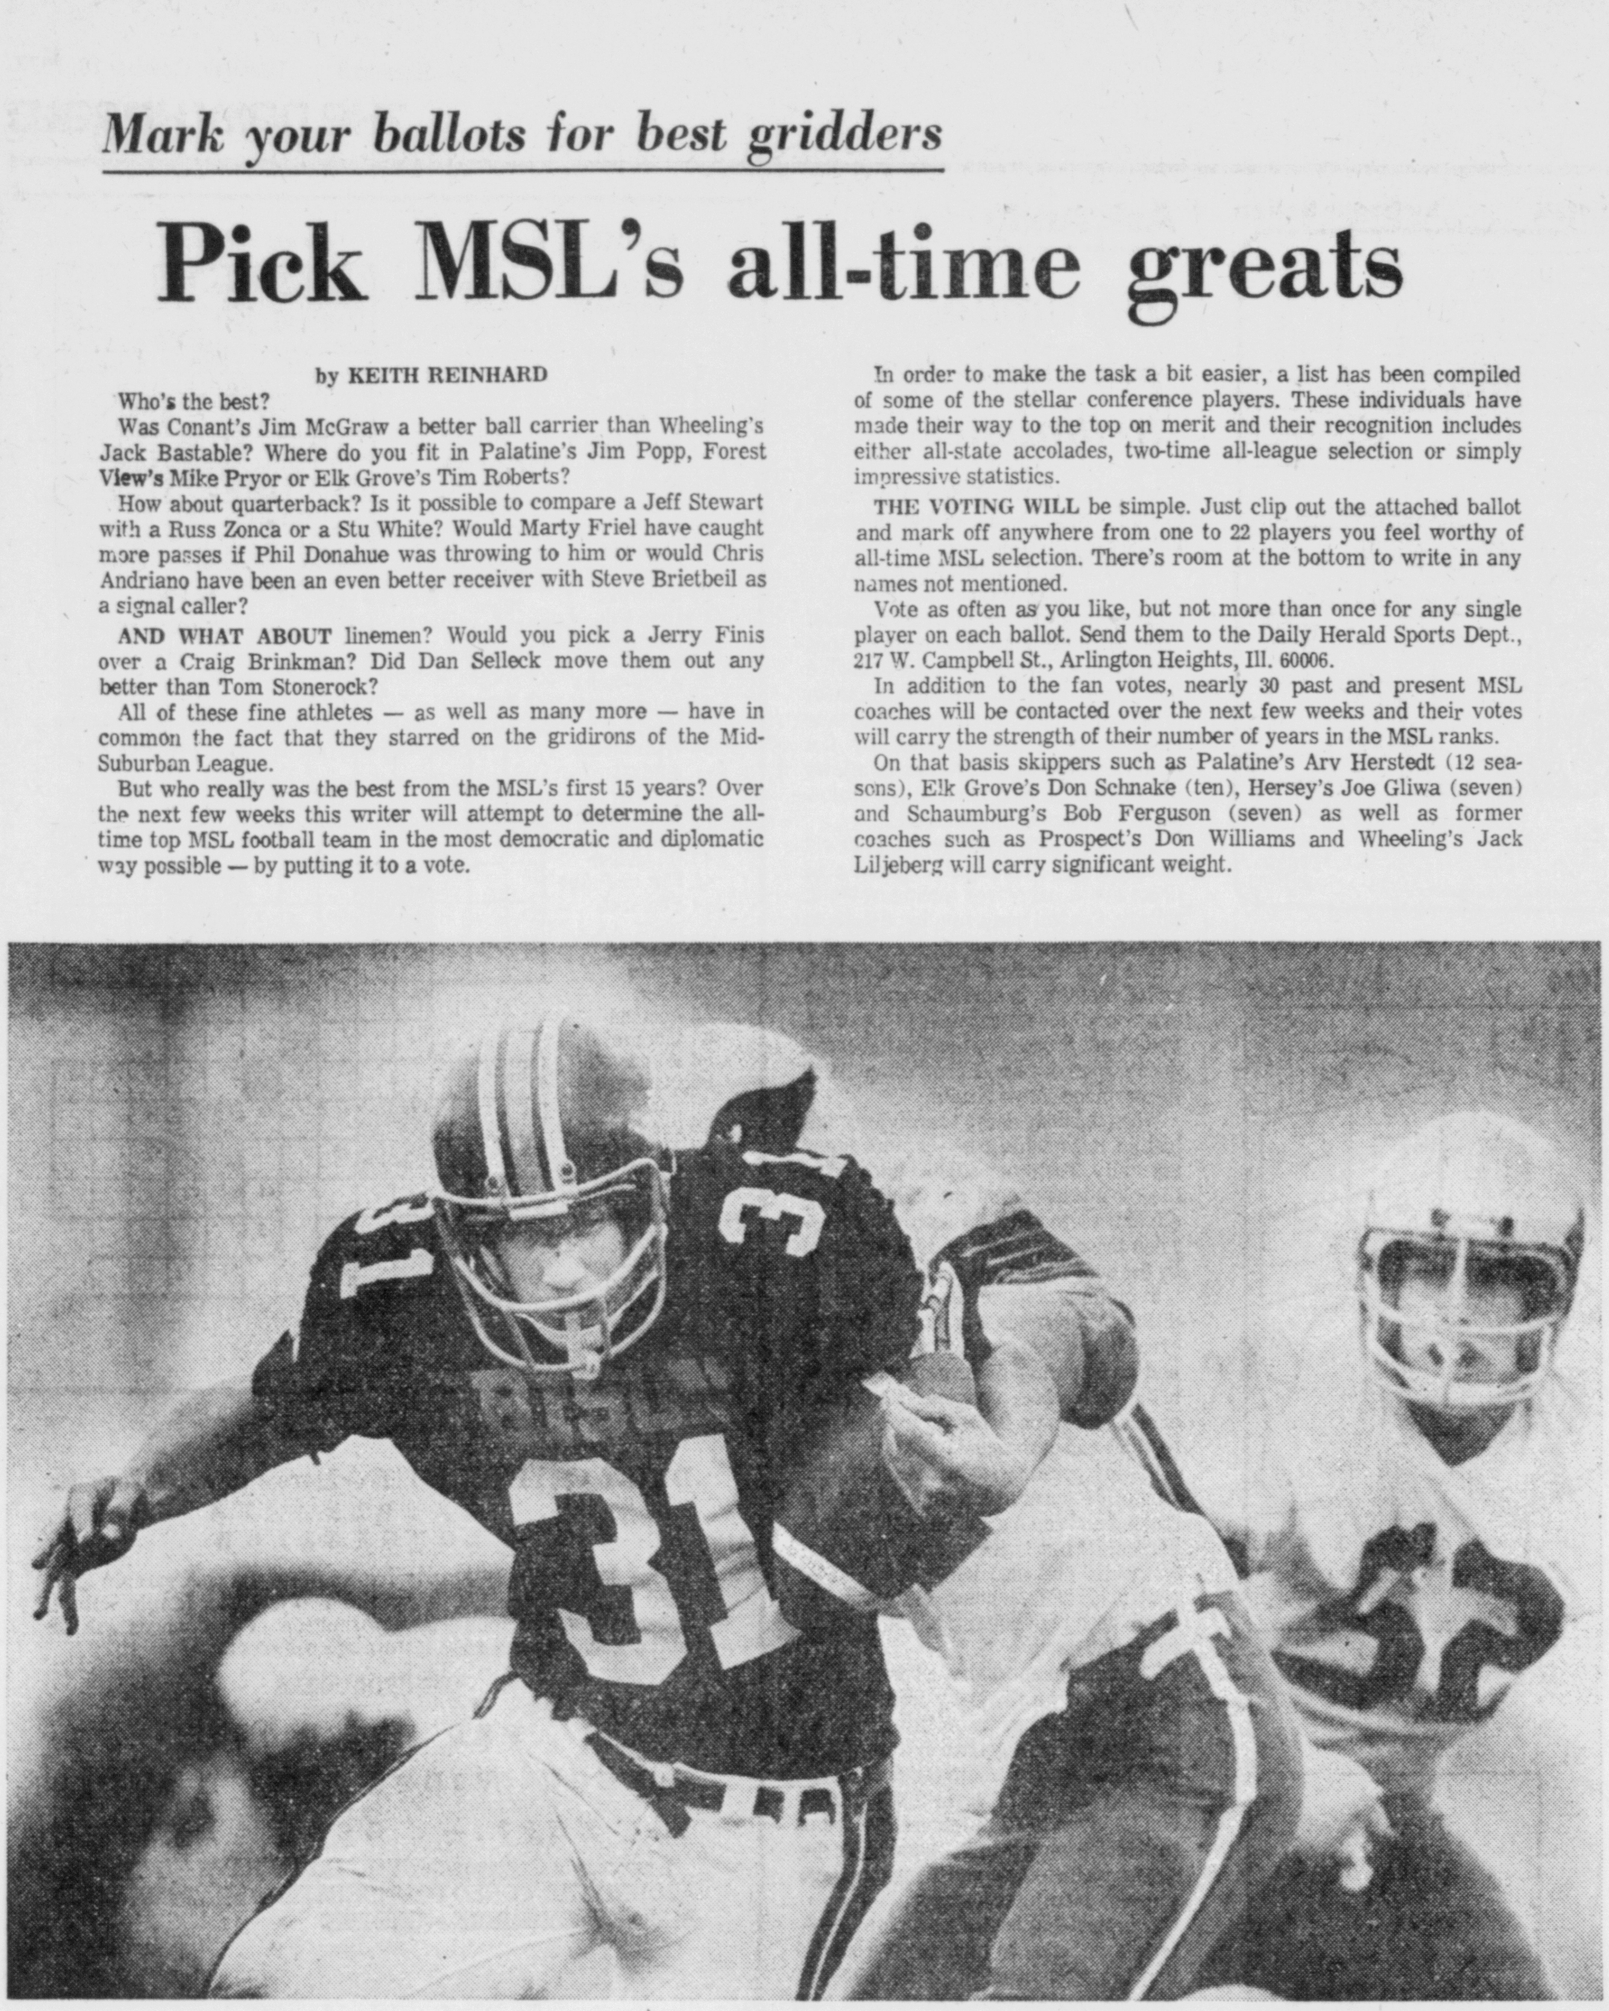
In order to make the task a bit easier, a list has been compiled of some of the stellar conference players. These individuals have made their way to the top on merit and their recognition includes either all-state accolades, two-time all-league selection or simply impressive statistics.

THE VOTING WILL be simple. Just clip out the attached ballot and mark off anywhere from one to 22 players you feel worthy of all-time MSL selection. There's room at the bottom to write in any names not mentioned.

Vote as often as you like, but not more than once for any single player on each ballot. Send them to the Daily Herald Sports Dept., 217 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

In addition to the fan votes, nearly 30 past and present MSL coaches will be contacted over the next few weeks and their votes will carry the strength of their number of years in the MSL ranks.

On that basis skippers such as Palatine's Arv Herstedt (12 seasons), Elk Grove's Don Schnake (ten), Hersey's Joe Gliwa (seven) and Schaumburg's Bob Ferguson (seven) as well as former coaches such as Prospect's Don Williams and Wheeling's Jack Liljeberg will carry significant weight.



BISON BLAST. Buffalo Grove running back Mike Williams powers his way past an Arlington defender as Card Tom Brodnan closes in. Williams finished the game with 25 yards rushing, but saw his team give up 12 points in the final quarter as Arlington won, 12-9. The victory was the second of the year for the Cards while the Bison dropped to 1-5. (Photo by Craig Camp)

'Real' series still years away: Oh

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan home run king Sadaharu Oh said Monday that five to 10 years may still be needed before American major leaguers and Japanese professional baseball players could play in a "real world series."

The Japanese-Chinese super-star has been described by the local media as the world's record holder in career homers as he hit more than 755 round-trippers and broke the record held by Hank Aaron of the United States.

But speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Foreign Correspondents Club of Japan, the 37-year-old baseball hero said he is "happy just to be described as a man in Japan who hit (more than) 755 career homers."

OH, FIRST baseman of the Tokyo Yomiuri Giants, completed his 19th pro baseball season this year by slamming 50 homers for a career total of 766.

"I think players in America and Japan should have interchange (in ballgames) for five to 10 years and get used to the same environment and conditions before they plan in a real world series," Oh said.

"There is still a difference (in the caliber) of baseball between the United States and Japan," he continued. "For instance, the Americans are (better) in speed and power and they are more devoted to the fundamentals of baseball than the Japanese.

"The infielders cover the bases immediately after the batter hits a grounder to first or second . . . We Japanese tend to overlook these basics of baseball."

OH, BORN IN Japan to a Chinese father and Japanese mother, is a popular figure in Taiwan where he is known in his Chinese name of Wang Chen-chih.

He received an unprecedented "National Honor" award from the Japanese government after he slammed his 756th homer in Tokyo Sept. 3.

He said American major leaguers coming to Japan in post regular seasons and their opposing Japanese numbers don't play "serious" ball games, indicating that the outcome of these games should not be considered a yardstick to compare the caliber of baseball between the two countries.

Oh said he does not know how many more years he can stay active but expressed the hope he will be able to play until he is 42 years old.

OH, WHOSE salary is estimated at more than $200,000 per year, was asked why he should not ask for more money.

"The custom is different in America and Japan," he said. "The substance of the contract (of a player) in the United States is open but it is not in Japan. I've always used my previous season's salary as a basis for asking for more money. Come December when I go into contract negotiations, I'll use this year's income as a basis. If I asked for double my salary, people may think I'm crazy."

Penalty double scores big

Only one player opened the South hand. Normally, you don't expect to get a zero score because you make that poor opening. But South got one when he compounded his error by not redoubling for rescue after East converted his partner's takeout double to penalty by passing. Maybe the redouble would have just taken him from the frying pan into the fire — maybe it would have gotten him off the hook. We'll never know.

West started out by cashing the three top hearts and then the ace of clubs. Then he shifted to the three of spades.

South made the right guess by playing dummy's nine. If you are going to open hands like this one you had best make the best guesses.

After this successful guess South struggled along for a long time, but when the smoke of battle had cleared away the defense had pulled in eight tricks and 500 points.

At most other tables the final contract was one notrump by East. Some declarers made it, others went down; but all scores were less than 100 points.

Hormonal problems lead to diabetes

Andy sends a World Book Year Book to Eddie Bischele, 11, of Indianapolis, Ind., for his question:

WHAT EXACTLY IS DIABETES?

There are two types of diabetes: diabetes insipidus and diabetes mellitus.

Diabetes insipidus is a condition that results when the body doesn't receive the proper amount of the hormone vasopressin. Produced by the hypothalamus and stored in and released by the posterior pituitary, vasopressin allows the kidneys to hold back water that is passed to them from the blood.

A person with diabetes insipidus is bothered by an excessive passing of urine and a persistent feeling of being thirsty. Control can come by injections of vasopressin.

The most common type of diabetes, called mellitus, is characterized by the presence of too much sugar in the urine and blood. It occurs when the pancreas does not produce sufficient amounts of the hormone called insulin.

When the body doesn't receive enough insulin, it is unable to use or store sugar normally. Too much sugar builds up in the bloodstream and the kidneys give off extra amounts through the urine. Then the way protein and fat are used by the body also is abnormal.

Symptoms of diabetes mellitus, in addition to too much sugar, can include great thirst, loss of weight and strength and the passing of large amounts of urine. Untreated, a person with the disease also can be bothered by boils, infections and carbuncles.

While a person with diabetes mellitus cannot be cured, he definitely can be treated and can live as long as a normal person. He must take regular injections of insulin and also learn to carefully control his diet. Menus should eliminate items with high sugar content, such as cakes and candy.

The natural antidiabetic hormone, insulin, must be given by injection because when taken by mouth it will be destroyed in the digestive system. There is a debate going on among doctors regarding the use of several drugs that can be given to stimulate the pancreas to produce more insulin. Some favor the drugs while other physicians believe they are harmful to the body.

A proper diet is vital to a person suffering diabetes. In addition to controlling the amount of sugar he takes, it also is important for him to have just exactly the right amounts of minerals and vitamins.

Most scientists agree that every diabetic should be under a doctor's regular care.

Andy sends the 1977 World Book Science Year Annual to Jean Forman, 9, of Omaha, Neb., for her question:

HOW DOES A MOONSTONE CHANGE COLORS?

Moonstone is the birthstone for June. It can be cut and used as a gem. Light will shine through the stone, but not as clearly as it does through glass. The stone seems to change color because of some reflective material that is part of its composition. Light will be reflected in first a bluish and then a pearly colored sheen because of the stone's inside structure.

Many of the world's best moonstones come from Sri Lanka.

A moonstone actually is a milky, translucent alkali feldspar. And a feldspar is the most abundant mineral in the rocks at and near the earth's surface. All feldspars contain aluminum and silica but the varieties differ in the amounts and kinds of other elements that are present.

Send your question on a postcard to Ask Andy in care of The Daily Herald, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006, making sure to include your name, age and address. Entries are open to boys and girls 7 to 17.

Congressional hearings a TV first

It appears almost certain that network and independent television station coverage of Congressional proceedings will begin as early as January.

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., has endorsed the recommendation of a special House committee to take what would be a historic step in live coverage of House of Representative debates, votes and all else that goes on behind those closed doors. Similar Senate coverage can't be far behind.

Any network or station in the country would be able to hook up for live coverage or taped replays of Congressional proceedings, allowing the constituency to observe their elected officials in action.

ACTUALLY, THE cameras have been in place for some time in the House chamber where sessions have been coverel closed circuit during a six-month trial. The sessions have been broadcast to a few locations on Capitol Hill so congressmen could observe how the new system works.

But, you can be sure the network minds have been at work for months, mulling over grand schemes for this new realm of coverage that will give television news more power and may be a goldmine for ratings.

The daily and weekly coverage of Congressional sessions may take on the aura of seasonal football with "Today's Highlights" and "Debate of the Week."

The networks may dub it "Challenge of the Senate Stars" or "Star Wars," and Walter Cronkite and Barbara Walters may be on hand to offer colorful, play-by-play coverage and commentary.

POLITICIANS, suddenly cognizant of the rolling cameras, will be on their best behavior and straining to offer unforgettable performances, eloquent addresses and immortal words for the record.

As a roll call is taken on an important matter or a heated filibuster gains momentum, the cameras will zero in, the commentary will become as dramatic as the scene and a director could wind up with an Emmy for his touching treatment of Congress in action.

There is no doubt that the accepted practice of televisiong the inner workings of the great arena will change the face of both political business and television news.

The serious question at hand, not to be underestimated by politicians, viewers or television bosses, is whether the changes ultimately will be for the better.

A TASK FORCE on Broadcasting and the Legislature, which has been considering the proposal of Congressional television for three years, believes the practice will result in a more well informed and interested public.

"Only an informed public can exert the pressure of public opinion on government policy . . . A legislative process carried out largely out of public sight cannot hope to challenge the executive with success," a Task Force report said.

The televising of Congressional activities may be one way of bridging the broad gap between elected officials in Washington and the curious and concerned voters back home. It may help to improve voter sophistication and knowledge or it may encourage the development of more skilled demagogues.

The Senate Watergate hearings of a few years back may serve as a reminder of what is to come. For some viewers, the televised hearings provided an important, meaningful insight into how democracy works during a political crisis.

OTHERS FOUND the proceedings tedious and an annoying preemption of daytime soap operas and game shows. It also gave the politicians who served on the panel of inquiry a chance to shine.

If you can't remember as far back as the Senate Watergate hearings, try recalling the Bert Lance television interrogation of just a month ago.

It would not be just a clear-cut, ongoing, uninterrupted television account of Congressional business that tube viewers would be privy to under this new plan. The television networks and stations would have the prerogative of splicing out what they don't have time for and aren't interested in and presenting only glimpses of what really happened.

Suddenly, television would have the power to determine just what Congressional action the people back home would see and, by its very presence, television would be influencing the legislative process.

THE ISSUE OF televising Congressional proceedings is filled with conflicting and troublesome advantages and disadvantages.

Whether or not it would provide a meaningful look at government and an improved understanding and relationship between those in Washington and the rest of the country will depend on how responsible those in charge of the new "show" intend to be.

It can give politicians an unequalled chance to grandstand, give television bosses a powerful hold on the nation's political machinery and may give voters an even more discouraging look at our democracy. Then again, it could be a positive experience.

Only time will tell for sure, but Congressional television coverage seems inevitable and is something that should be approached thoughtfully and cautiously by all.

TV NOTES:

WMAQ-TV has hired Michael Jackson, a very competent reporter working in the NBC Network News' midwest bureau, as its weekend anchorman and general assignment reporter. Jackson, who has been working for the network for three years and who should serve as a definate asset to Chicago's No. 3 news organization is expected to begin his new duties in two weeks.

Channel 5 also has hired Al Meltzer of KYW, an NBC affiliate in Philadelphia, as a sportscaster and replacement for Tim Weigel. Meltzer, who has gained a reputation as a "controversial" sportscaster during his 9-year career, will begin his Monday through Friday duties on the station's 4:30 and 10 p.m. newscasts in three weeks, said Sheldon Hoffman, WMAQ-TV news director.

TV HIGHLIGHTS:

- "Space: The Needed Frontier" is a WTTW documentary that examines the space-exploration program from the viewpoint of the American taxpayer at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 11.
- NBA basketball airs at 7 p.m. on Channel 9 and the sixth game of the World Series airs at 7 p.m. on Channel 7.
- "Live From Lincoln Center" at 8 p.m. on Channel 11 stars Beverly Sills in the New York City Opera production of the Massenet classic, "Manon."
- "Lou Grant" uncovers some startling information in the newspaper investigation of a Nazi group at 9 p.m. on Channel 2.

Chicago theater names Jeff Award winners

by SCOTT FOSDICK

Monday night's televised Joseph Jefferson Awards ceremony began with a few Bert Convy anecdotes about his 10 years on the New York stage, but the rest of the evening belonged to Chicago's theater community — sort of.

The Jeff Awards were created to nurture Chicago theater, but the New York and Hollywood actors and actresses that hosted the show ended up giving most of the awards to New York and Hollywood actors and actresses.

The Goodman and Academy Festival theaters walked off with the greatest number, with Goodman's Stage 2 play "Sizwe Bansi is Dead," a story of apartheid in South Africa, winning the major awards. Both the Goodman and Academy Festival do most of their casting in New York.

The off-Loop theaters, which received the majority of the nominations, ended up getting very few of the awards. A good example of the tenor of this year's awards involves the Body Politic theater. Its production of "Who's Happy Now?" was nominated for by far the most awards, (9), but didn't receive one.

NO AWARDS were given to the now-defunct Arlington Park Theater, although it received five nominations for its final season of plays. The Madison Square Garden Corp., owners of the theater and adjacent Arlington Park Hilton and race track, closed the 700-seat theater in May after years of financial troubles.

Following are the 1977 Joseph Jefferson Award winners:

- Production: "Sizwe Bansi is Dead," Stage 2.
- Director: Gregory Mosher, "Sizwe Bansi is Dead," Stage 2.
- Actress in a Principal Role: Francis Hyland, "Long Day's Journey Into Night," Goodman.
- Actor in a Principal Role: Meshach Taylor, "Sizwe Bansi is Dead," Stage 2.
- Director — Musical: Del Close, "Wellsapoppin,' " Second City.
- Actress in a Principal Role — Musical: Shelly Long, "Wellsapoppin,' " Second City.
- Actor in a Principal Role — Musical: Don De Pollo, "Wellsapoppin,' " Second City.
- Ensemble: "Bleacher Bums," Organic.
- Actress in a Supporting Role: Gerry Lange, "Mert & Phil," St. Nicholas.
- Actress in a Supporting Role — Musical: Africa Pace Brown, "In De Beginnin,' " Genesis Company at Body Politic.
- Actor in a Supporting Role: Robert Moberly, "Too True to be Good," Academy Festival.
- Actress in a Cameo Role: Ann Ives, "Tobacco Road," Academy Festival.
- Actor in a Cameo Role: Rex Robbins, "The Landscape of the Body," Academy Festival.
- Scenic Design: Joseph Nieminski, "Design for Living," Goodman.
- Lighting Design: Jennifer Tipton, "The Landscape of the Body," Academy Festival.
- Costume Design: Jessica Hahn, "Seascape," Evanston.
- Guest Artist: Shirley Knight, "The Landscape of the Body," Academy Festival.

Five special awards were presented: Two for production and music were given to Goodman's Stage 2 theater; two children's theater awards went to "Peter Pan in Neverland," at the Forum, and "The Hairy Man," at Gangway Productions; and one special award for best new drama to playwright John Geer for his play "The Landscape of the Body" at Academy Festival.

ACTRESS ELIZABETH Montgomery keeps a good grip on a friendly lamb in between takes of "The Awakening Land," a television miniseries being filmed in New Salem State Park and other sites in the Springfield, Ill. area. Hal Holbrook also stars in the production.

Juring of artists at Countryside

In preparing to celebrate its 25th anniversary next year, Countryside Art Center, 408 N. Vail, Arlington Heights, will have a jurying of artists today. Those qualifying will have their work presented in shows at the gallery January through June 1978.

Martyl and George Buehr, artists from Fairweather Hardin Gallery in Chicago, will be jurors.

Artists ages 21 and older living within a 150-mile radius of the gallery are invited to bring three original pieces in the same category to the gallery, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today. There is a $7 jury fee. Further information is available at 253-3005.

Early bird snowstorm shocks East

Autumn foliage seekers in the Appalachians saw white instead of red Monday.

An early bird snowstorm, packing a midwinter-like wallop, blasted the eastern mountains from Upstate New York to Tennessee and North Carolina.

Up to a foot of snow fell in Pennsylvania and six-inch amounts piled up as far south as Great Smoky National Park.

Hundreds of motorists — many of them sightseers in search of brilliant fall foliage — were stranded in snow and ice in Pennsylvania alone. Motels, hotels and camping areas overflowed from New York to the Smokies.

TREES OVERBURDENED by snow and ice snapped power lines. Service to an estimated 45,000 persons was knocked out in Luzerne County, Pa., and about 3,100 others were without electricity for a time in Williamsport, Pa.

"A midwinter storm in October," one Pennsylvania state police officer called the wintry blast.

"Oh, no, here we go again," a Livingston County, N.Y., deputy sheriff exclaimed. "What a way to start the week."

On Interstate 80 and Interstate 81 near Hazleton, Pa., cars backed up for eight miles and many were abandoned. Snowplows came out of summer storage to clear the two major highways.

INTERSTATE 80, a major east-west transcontinental route, was reopened by midmorning. Interstate 81, which zigzags north-south through the Appalachians, remained closed.

The storm claimed at least two deaths. The wife and daughter of Andre Thornton, first baseman of baseball's Cleveland Indians, were killed when their car overturned in a snow squall on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Somerset. Thornton and a 4-year-old son were treated for minor injuries and eleased from a hospital.

Several Pennsylvania radio stations were knocked out by storm-caused power failures. Some schools closed in the Williamsport, Scranton and Lewistown, Pa., areas.

Snow forced officials to close the entire 105-mile stretch of the Skyline Drive in Virginia and U.S. 441 across the Smokies between Gatlinburg, Tenn., and Cherokee, N.C.

HEAVY RAINS and gale winds pounded other parts of the Northeast. Some families were driven from their homes by floodwaters near North Blenheim in Schoharie County, N.Y.

MOTORISTS SIT IDLE along I-81 in Frackville, Pa., as a surprise snow storm dumped 12 inches of snow. The midwinter-like wallop hit the eastern mountains from Upstate New York to Tennessee and North Carolina.

Prattsville, in New York's Catskill Mountains, had nearly four inches of rain. Flash flood warnings were up in parts of New York, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

The National Weather Service, however, still was predicting mostly sunny and cool weather with only a 10 per cent chance of rain for Tuesday night's sixth World Series game in New York City.

Freezing or frosty weather spread through much of the East, South and eastern Midwest. Temperatures dropped to record lows for the date from northern Michigan to the southern tip of Florida.

Drug firms won't combat fatal diseases unless profitable: doctor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Because of the small profit potential, pharmaceutical firms refuse to produce drugs to combat fatal diseases that strike only a small percentage of the American public, a university physician said Monday.

Dr. Guy McKhann, head of nuerology at Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine in Baltimore, made the allegation at a hearing into allocating $52 million over the next three years for research in Huntington's disease.

Joining the plea for funds were actress Jennifer Jones and Marjorie Guthrie, whose folksinger husband Woody died of Huntington's 10 years ago.

McKHANN SAID LOW profit prospects lead drug companies to avoid research into "small diseases" — those that strike a relative small percentage.

"Do you mean that unless enough people are dying . . . it is difficult to persuade people to get interested because they can't make money for finding a cure?" asked Birch Bayh, D-Ind., only senator at the hearing.

"True," McKhann said. "They are looking for another Valium that 30 or 40 million people will take, and are afraid of the cost of research and development . . . never will be regained."

Bayh called that "a hard-hearted and mistaken approach," and said if the allegations are true, the situation is "unconscionable." He ordered the staff of the Labor and HEW subcommittee to get information on the charges.

McKHANN SAID the National Institutes of Health often have said to drug companies, "Here's compound X, take it and market it. And the pharmaceutical houses have said 'no' — because there isn't enough profit.

Estimates on the number of Americans who suffer Huntington's disease range from 7 per 100,000 to 10 per 10,000. The disease, always fatal, is manifested by slow destruction of brain cells and motor functions. Sulcide among victims is seven times the national rate.

Each child of a parent with Huntington's has an even chance of inheriting it, and there is no way of knowing who will get it until symptoms appear. Only after death can it be determined whether the gene was present.

Miss Jones, a member of Commission for the Control of Huntington's disease, narrated an 18-minute slide and sound show which Bayh called "An Academy Award winner."

She called the disease "a unique curse — children watch the painful decline of their parent and never know when it might happen to them."

And job beggars can be choosers, too

Good help hard to find, firms say

by RICHARD J. CATTANI

Alan Zerman is choosy about the help he hires for his delicatessens.

While smoke poured from the furnace, fired up for the first time as Zerman's employes rushed to ready the newest Slicers in a posh Chicago neighborhood north of the Loop, the deli chain president stuck to his theme — good help is hard to find.

One of his delis, in Atlanta, hacked its way into the red for more than a year until Zerman fired the whole crew and built a new staff with the background and hop-to-itness he demands.

"IT'S NOT THAT there aren't enough applicants," he said, as a black youth entered his Slicers deli asking about work. "It's that most applicants can't do the job."

Zerman's quandary is widely shared today on the U.S. job scene — a paradox of jobs going begging while workers go begging for jobs.

A lack of job skills, rather than an outright unwillingness to work for low or modest wages, chiefly explains why job listings in want ads and with placement agencies are high, employment experts concur.

The number of jobless persons in the United States rose to 6.9 million in August — compared with 90.8 Americans who were working — bringing the nationwide unemployment rate to 7.1 per cent of the work force.

The impression that jobs go begging because the jobless would rather stay on the public dole than work is generally dismissed by experienced employment specialists.

"I'M NOT AWARE of any large number of low-paying jobs people won't take," says Edward Schaeffer, spokesman for the St. Louis office of the Missouri Divison of Employment Security. Demand is strong even for low-paying, part-time work, he says.

"Seventy per cent of our applicants are unskilled people," says Jerome Brown, assistant superintendent of the Illinois Job Service, a state Labor Dept. agency. "But about 90 per cent of the jobs we list require a skill of sorts. or experience."

New York's state Manpower Service Council says 6,600 skilled jobs in New York City alone currently cannot be filled, despite a quarter-of-a-million New Yorkers unemployed.

In the Boston area, 10,000 jobs could be promptly filled if enough workers could be trained, or if employers would yield somewhat on rigid job-readiness demands, says Robert Cord, executive director of Action for Boston Community Development, Inc., an agency that trains many of Boston's low-skilled.

THE MISMATCH between jobs and applicants can be partly closed, Cord thinks, if more companies would look within their own ranks for job prospects and make the effort to train them.

Also, social stereotypes dampen the entry of many into fields where help is in short supply. The nurse shortage, he suggests, could be offset by training more male nurses. And white city ethnics, as well as urban blacks, could be more sensitively received by suburban managements, where new openings now often occur.

In Illinois as in most states, the hardest-to-fill job categories include mechanical engineers, nurses, secretaries, and other office workers, insurance sales, food service, machinists, auto mechanics — all with skill requirements. The Illinois Bureau of Employment Security averages nine applicants for each opening.

Applicants decline jobs because the pay may be low on the competitive scale or work conditions bad. "Transportation is a tremendous factor," Miss Ellison says. "If a lot of these jobs, especially service jobs were in the city, they could be filled faster."

Says Mitchell S. Fromstein, president of Manpower, Inc., the Milwaukee-based employer of 500,000 temporary workers: "We can use anybody with secretarial or clerical skills in any of our 400 offices. We can put them to work tomorrow. The demand is there but not the skill."

TO FILL THE HEAVY demand for secretaries, typists, and other office workers, his firm has turned to the housewife: "It's now fashionable, as well as permissible, for women at all economic levels to return to work. This supply helped us through the spring and summer. But we've almost emptied that market now."

Fromstein predicts the shortage of office workers in the United States will reach three million by 1985, unless employers and schools encourage more women to enter the field. "The public doesn't realize secretarial or office jobs for women are preparation for moving up into administrative and

The impression of low-pay jobs going unfilled may be due to the pattern of off-again, on-again employment among city youths, suggests University of Michigan economist Edward Gramlich.

"But jobs like dishwashing aren't a solution to our hard-core unemployment needs," he adds. "There are few 'good' jobs for city youths, ot engender a permanent job atachment.

"The news in unemployment is that joblessness is a transitory, not a permanent state for individuals. It is a state that people go through often. And that's what's disturbing."

Business briefs

August inventories, sales show growth

Business inventories rose 0.8 per cent while sales speeded up in August, the Commerce Dept. said Monday. The $2%6 billion inventory growth to $319.8 billion was almost $1 billion faster than July, the department said. Sales fell in July. The combination of stronger sales and inventories laid the groundwork for the September improvements in industrial production and unemployment that apparently marked the end of the economic pause of summer. Commerce said the total business stock-to-sales ratio at the end of August was a good 1.48 compared with 1.49 in July and 1.51 in August a year ago.

Dollar hits new low in Zurich

The U.S. dollar closed at a new record low in Zurich Monday, weakened further on other European markets. The pound hit its highest level against the dollar in more than a year. Against the Swiss franc, the dollar opened the week at a record low of 2.26885 francs and then sank even lower to close at a median rate of 2.2652 francs. At Friday's close it was 2.2745. Dealers in Zurich attributed the continued decline of the dollar to the strengthening of the Japanese yen. They said the rise of the Japanese currency was pulling other strong currencies such as the Swiss franc and the German mark up with it.

Japan surplus at $510 million

Japan recorded a $510 million surplus in its over-all balance of payments in September, up from $292 million in August, the Finance Ministry announced Monday. The ministry said the surplus on current account before seasonal adjustment stood at $1.14 billion in September, compared to $670 mvillion in August. Yoshihiro Inayama, president of the Japan Iron and Steel Federation, called Monday for voluntary restraints on Japanese steel exports to the United States. Inayma, who also is chairman of Nippon Steel Corp., told newsmen his appeal is designed to avoid the worsening of U.S.-Japanese trade relations. Japan, under strong pressure from the United States and West European countries, will reduce import tariffs on automobiles, computers and other items effective next April 1, government sources reported Monday. The sources said other items will include color film, processed foods and farm products, whisky, wine, chocolate and cookies. The United States and European Common Market nations have been seeking to persuade Japan to lower duties on these items in order to increase its imports and reduce its huge trade surplus.

Dye chemical called cancerous

A chemical contained in some permanent hair dyes used by millions of men and women is a potential cancer causer that can be absorbed through the scalp, a public interest group charged Monday. The cosmetics industry, however, said the allegation was based on unevaluated labortory test data, and claimed a substantial body of research shows hair dyes are safe. The Environmental Defense Fund announced it had filed a petition with the Food and Drug Administration asking that products containing the chemical — called either 4MMPB or 4MMPDS — should be labeled to tell consumers of the presence of chemical and that it has been shown to cause cancer in animals. "A large proportion of permanent hair dyes manufactured by Clairol, Revlon, Alberto Culver and Cosmair contain these chemicals," the EDF said.

Conflict-of-interest bill passed

The parade of federal procurement officials from their government jobs to private companies with whom they had been dealing may be stemmed by new conflict-of-interest legislation, says Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis. A measure just passed by the Senate will reduce the temptation for government contracting officials to favor or "go easy" on certain companies for which they later hope to work, Proxmire said Sunday.

Consumer agency plan revised

An unsuccessful plan to create a federal consumer agency has been recast for one more effort to sell it to Congress before the lawmakers adjourn their current session. Supporters of the stalled proposal say they have rewritten it to eliminate all the points that drew objections from members of Congress and some of the points objected to by big business. Even the name of the proposed agency is different. What has been referred to as the "Consumer Protection Agency," "Consumer Advocacy Agency" and "Agency for Consumer Protection" now is being called the "Office of Consumer Representation."

Firm gives granny pride, salary

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — A corporation founded four years ago to help women earn extra money at temporary jobs will be moving into a fourth city this month and the founder is beginning to have worldwide dreams.

The organization is Grandmothers, Inc., founded in 1973 in Tulsa by Pauline Black, an accountant who was tired of working and thought she would help other women find ways to make some extra money.

Mrs. Black opened her home-based organization on Oct. 1, 1973 with one customer and one woman who needed a temporary job. Now Grandmothers, Inc., has offices at Tulsa, Oklahoma City and Houston and will open one this month at Indianapolis.

THROUGH THE organization between 300 and 400 women — about 38 years old or older — earn their money by babysitting, house sitting, serving as companions to the elderly or by doing light housework. Some work one or two days a week, while others work seven days a week on a live-in basis. Their earnings depend on what tasks they perform and a percentage of it goes to the corporation.

She said she started the organization because many women were finding themselves divorced or widowed at the age of 50 or 60 with no skills and trying desperately to live off Social Security or inadequate pensions.

"If I had to live off $120 a month I'd die," she said. "These people want their pride, too."

It's the Canon NP-50. For low-to-medium copying requirements. It's engineered with rugged solid state technology. It's compact, produces clear, legible copies in statement, letter and legal size, on plain paper that can be written on immediately. And copy onto transparencies, labeled stock and colored paper.

It will replace copiers like the Xerox 660 and old fashioned electrofax copiers that use coated paper to produce copies that are tough to write on and read.

The Canon NP-50 is so reliable it greatly reduces your operating costs. And our suggested retail price of $2975 includes a handsome rollaway stand. Another savings.

Find out more about a whole new generation in copiers, call or write us today.

For $2,975,*
it's the biggest bargain in plain paper copier history.

You won't be out of a job, Senator

Louis Rukeyser

NEW YORK — An open letter to a Senator who says he's concerned about high unemployment:

Dear Senator Legion (for that is thy name),

What can I say, dear, after I've said, "Ah, fooey"?

Pardon my cynicism, solon, but some of us have grown a bit weary of the way you and so many of your colleagues bleat piteously, out of one side of your mouths, about the horrors of unemployment and then go blithely ahead, out of the other side, voting for measures whose effect will certainly be to make unemployment worse.

I KNOW YOU'RE just trying to get reelected. in your all too conventional way: to cater to all desires. Or could it be that your underlying yearning is to emulate the similarly motivated "Happy Hooker" who ended her scandalous career with a best selling book of memoirs? If so I have just the title for your own effort: "The Happy Hypocrite."

How else to explain the activities of a presumably literate adult who professes deep distress over the rate of unemployment and then promptly proceeds to:

• Pass a four-stage minimum wage increase that makes even your House counterparts look like pikers, thereby assuring, as has every such move for two decades, that still mre Americans will go semipermanently on the dole.

• Refuse to allow any lower minimum for teenagers, who are massively unemployed already at the current $2.30 rate. The real wage for these youths thus becomes $0.00, of course, but what do you care? George Meany (whose people make a lot more than the minimum) wanted a big increase and George says he can deliver a pile of votes; those kids, on the other hand, will probably be too disillusioned to go to the polls.

• Cheer on the AFL-CIO effort to "solve" the deficit problem in the Social Security System by adding still more to unemployment. Oh, that's not the announced method, naturally, but what else do you think will be impact of the union-backed plan (already whisked through the House Ways and Means Committee) to send both the wage base and the tax rate into the stratosphere?

THIS IS ANOTHER of those tricky ones, as you know, which means you have a pretty good chance of fooling some of your constituents all of the time. You can tell them, for example, that even though the tax rate will rise from 5.85 per cent now to 6.45 per cent in 1981, it could be worse: the rotten old boss will have to pay an equivalent increase himself.

Don't, whatever you do, start confessing what virtually every economist (and even one or two Senators; knows to be true: that every penny of that tax is really paid by the employee — since it adds to the cost of hiring him. You tell a single worker earning. say, $20,000 (and thus already in the 38 per cent bracket, for Federal taxes alone) that you are about to lumber him or her with another 13 per cent, making the real tax bracket 51 per cent, just for Uncle Sam, and you are likely to have a mighty surly voter on your hands.

And don't try to enlighten anyone. Don't, for example, let a $20,000 steelworker know that by 1986, according to the Wall Street Journal's computations, he'll need $37,900 just to keep up with inflation and that your lovely scheme by then will have him in almost a 60 per cent bracket (which means he won't really be keeping up with inflation at all).

Defer problems, whenever you can get away with it. Suppose that steelworker will be out of luck in 1986? Sup pose the whole U.S. steel industry, already in such desperate trouble (with sky-high labor costs no small part of the problem), may have collapsed by then? Suppose that, while puttering about here and there along the legislative horizon, you have added again and again to future unemployment? You're still working, aren't you? And at the same old job.

See you at the polls,

Louis Rukeyser

Firms see mail costs skyrocket

by GUY HALVERSON

If you are a typical businessman, there is a perfect place in your organization for R2 D2 and C-3PO — those enterprising robots out of "Star Wars."

The place: your mail room.

For scores of small and medium-sized businesses in the United States as well as many corporate giants, mail room costs have become "astronomical" in the past decade according to Samuel J. Paul, an official with Pitney Bowes Corp. Indeed, the efficiency of a couple of robots such as the Star Wars characters no doubt could help some companies cut mail costs.

According to the Dartnell Institute of Business Research, the average business letter cost a staggering $4.17 by late last year, up from $3.05 in 1970. This cost includes postage, processing, delivery, personnel and equipment. It is estimated corporate mail expenses are ringing up costs in the billions of dollars with no end in sight. Consider:

• The U.S. Postal Service handles more than 89 billion pieces of mail annually. Of this, roughly 80 per cent is business mail.

• Corporate mail costs continue to soar, with many companies spending $75,000 to $100,000 and up a year.

"At one time, mail room costs came out of a firm's petty cash fund," says Mr. Paul, manager of Pitney Bowes' postal education center. "Now," he says, "that money usually comes out of the operating budget."

Paul is something of an expert on the subject of slashing mail costs. He currently is visiting Washington to conduct a seminar for businessmen on cutting mail expenses — one of a series of seminars being held throughout the United States by Pitney Bowes, which manufactures mail room equipment.

In 1976 the firm held 28 mail room seminars. This year that number is expected to go up to 50, with another 60 or so planned for 1978:

Paul recalls a seminar in early 1976 that included an official of the state of Kentucky. At the time Kentucky law specified that certified state documents had to be sent by registered mail. In the seminar Paul stressed the high costs of registered mail. The state official returned home with his findings, consultations were held quickly, and the state law was amended to allow use of certified, instead of registered mail.

The upshot, according to Paul: savings to Kentucky of $1,000 a week on mailing costs.

"Most companies," Paul says, "are spending far too much on mail." He says most businesses easily could reduce expenses by at least 10 per cent without difficulty.

The first step, he says, is for corporate executives to recognize that the mailing department is "the hub" of a business.

"Everything revolves around it, accounts receivable, accounts payable, promotion, advertising — everything."

His specific suggestions for cutting costs:

• Watch weight. That means, he says, having the best quality scales. One test to see if your scales are balanced is to pile on five quarters. They should weigh just under an ounce. If you register an ounce or more, you are wasting postage.

• Move mail to the Polst Office as early as possible during the day to avoid the late afternoon pileups. That means moving out your most important mail — bills, etc. — first.

• Be familiar with the variety of mail services. Use certified instead of registered when pssible. Watch out for unnecessary packaging, such as too much tape or heavy wrapping paper. Favor light weight envelopes, half sheets, or use both sides of a sheet of paper for reports, etc.

• Use bulk rates whenever you have identical pieces in quantities of more than 200.

• Instead of sending separate letters to the same address, send all letters or documents to the same party at the same time.

• Place first class letters in parcels. Then, mark the package "first class mail enclosed," and tack the additional cost to the postage for the package. An alternative: Directly tape the first class letter to the package with its own postage.

Interest rates push Dow down 1.30 points

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks fell Monday in selling sparked by investor concern about rising interest rates and the failure of the Carter administration to develop a clear economic policy. Trading was slow.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which rose 3.47 points Friday, lost 1.30 points to 820.34. It had been down more than three points at one time. The Dow dropped 18.71 points overall last week.

Analysts said investors were disturbed by the Federal Reserve Board's report late Thursday that the nation's basic money supply climbed $4.9 billion in the latest week, presaging tighter credit and higher interest rates.

OBSERVERS ALSO said the market was being hurt by reports that executives of the nation's largest firms at a business council meeting were critical of President Carter for not formulating a clear economic policy.

Some investors were encouraged by the FED's report late Friday that industrial production climbed 0.4 per cent in September, following a 0.4 per cent decline in August. However, factories operated at 82.9 per cent of capacity, the same as the month before.

The New York Stock Exchange common stock index lost 0.05 to 51.19 and the average price of a share decreased by three cents. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, containing some over-the-counter issues, slipped 0.09 to 93.47.

Declines outnumbered advances, 849 to 554, among the 1,866 issues crossing the composite.

Big Board volume totaled 17,340,000 shares, down from the 20,410,000 traded Friday.

Composite volume of NYSE issues listed on all U.S. Exchanges and over the counter totaled 19,515,330 shares, compared with 23,342,560 Friday.

Prices were lower in moderate trading of American stock exchange and over-the-counter.

We're getting around more. So you'll get around better.

You'll be seeing a lot more of RTA's 234 bus.

RTA's route 234 used to be a "shuttle" bus connecting Wheeling with Mt. Prospect and Des Plaines C & NW railway stations during commuting hours.

Now it can do a lot more. Because now the 234 runs all day and on Saturdays.

That makes it very handy for getting to Wheeling High School, Randhurst Shopping Center, Holy Family Hospital and many other points of interest from Wheeling to Des Plaines.

So get around the easy way. For just 30 cents on the RTA's 234. And for another 30 cents you can get an RTA Universal Transfer and board any other RTA bus—including CTA services in Chicago—without paying an additional full fare.

Isn't that the Historical Society's Clarisse Carman behind that Daily Herald?

Talk about "involved in the community"—right up there on anyone's list is certainly Clarisse Carman of the Hanover Park/Streamwood/Bartlett Historical Society. Among her many community activities over the years, Clarisse's parade organization talents were responsible for "putting us on the map" in the Hanover Park area via a network TV news feature.

Let us say that Clarisse is the kind of model citizen The Daily Herald hopes to be in your community—informative, entertaining and involved. For Monday thru Saturday home delivery information, phone us at 837-6275.
